The Pearl and The Pumpkin a Gorgeous Spectacle—Easy Dawson Introduces Raymond Hitchcock as a Legitimate Comedian—The Independent onts Declare Themselves in an Official Statement—News, Views and Notes of General Interest Gleaned Along the Great White Way.

The preliminary guns of the opening season have been fired, and it is likely when the smoke clears away that disappointment will, in some instances, follow in the wake of bigh, manageral hopes. To begin with, the weather during the past week has been uncomfortably warm, and the earty opening theatres have not been the most comfortable location the pleasure seeker might. find. Two productions have had their New York introduction, two plays have been revived and the season has begun at more than a score of our sixty-odd theatres. The Pearl and The Pumpkin, endowed the arm of the season have been find, and audience when it opened at the Broadway.

Novel Situation in The Eye Witness, Lincoln J. Carter's New Play at the Criterion—Players' Stock with Adolaide Keim Opens Season—Review and Comment.

INCOLN J. CARTER'S latest seenle drama, The Eye Witness, is the current attraction at the Criterion. The potent factors of life are the smiles and tears—the lively and severe—the comedy and tragedy, which find their true sphere and expression in melodrama. The Eye Witness excels in the ingenuity and absolute novelty of four great climatic scenes that are worked up with much skill by the play-wright and stage carpenters, and played in a spirited manner by the company. The best of these scenes is in the fourth act, showing a jack-knife bridge do, which works hydraulically, does not swing on its own center as the oldstyle bridges do, but splits in the center, each

In response he made a tremulous, facetious curtain speech in which he said, apropos of the theme of the play: "The great fact of our national life is that the ladies do the managing. It follows from that that we are the greatest nation on earth. Some say it's the crops—but me for the ladies."

saloous, when audiences were allowed to smoke sand fuddle and talk at the top of their volces, while someone roared out a comic or sentimental song with all his lung power, or while two 'artists' beat each other silly—if they were not silly before—with bladders on the end of sticks. The music hall has come back to the old knock-down and drag-out business again. Witty, humorous sayings are lost on present-day music hall andiences; these things make them think when they don't want to think, it is too painful—they just want to be amused by a rough and tumble show." These views have brought a deluge of protests from managers, artists and the public. It can hardly be said that Mr. Knowles' views are substantiated, by appearances at least. When we see a present-day music hall audience composed of well-dressed men and women, who really resent saything approaching vulgarity and behave as ladice and gentlemen, and mentally compare them with the rough "stag" audiences of only tox years ago, we cannot but admit that Mr. Knowles' view is distorted. When he says that music hall audiences in England are generally vulgar and have no taste, we are reminded of a passage in one of the quarrels between Sir Peter and Lady Teazel: "For my part I should think you would like to have your wife thought a woman of taste." "Aye, there you are again; taste! Zounds, madam, you had no taste when you married me!"

FALLING WALLS CAUSE TRAGEDY

The Week at the theatres has been entirely without events. There were no openings and no first productions. Nor can we look forward to anything new next week. On the 21st, however, we will see the first performance of The Duffer, by Weedon Grossmith, and for many days thereafter a new production every day.

which is made above, appeared in The Billboard as follows:

Nicholas Roberts, one of the most popular showmen of his time, known both for his clowning and managerial ability, died at Bedford, Va., Aur. 9, after suffering a stroke of apoplexy. During the early '80's Mr. Roberts' fame as a clown waxed great, and as a funmaker none was considered his equal. The Nick Roberts Pantomine Co., featuring the clown in the role of Humpty Dumpty became very popular. Mr. Roberts put on a number of other companies and managed them all so successfully that he accumulated a fortune. He became interested in a number of other ventures which resulted in his acquiring and losing several fortunes. Mr. Roberts is said to have introduced to western audiences the first juvenile opera company. He was interested with Millt Gott-bold in the old Vine Street Opera House in Cincinsati when that house was young. He built the Fountain Square Theatre in the same city, and for a time managed it. The Vine Street Opera House is now known as the Standard, and the Fountain Square Theatre as The Columbia. For a short season Mr. Roberts clowned with the Robinson Circus. When the infirmities of old age reduced his worth he settled down as a private citizen in Cincinnati. Some time ago his friends induced him to enter a Cincinnati hospital. From there he was taken to Redford, Va., and placed in the Elka' National Home. Mr. Roberts leaves a wislow and son in Cincinnati, and a son in New York. He was a member of Elks' Lodge No. 1. of New York and assisted in establishing the Cincinnati lodge.

On August 22, at Southern Orange Park, N. J., an enormous African lioness escaped from its cage, knocking down its keeper and dashing into the midst of a crowd of 5,000 people. Many had their clothes torn off in the mad rush for the main entrance, and only the promptness of the guards in opening the gates prevented scores from being trampled. The lioness, which took refuge behind a building was one of the largest of its species, and a cordon of two hundred men, armed with rifles, revolvers and pitch forks, captured the fugitive at mignight.

It is reported that Mr. W. W. Brown, lot superintendent of the Greater Norris & Rowe Circus, recently fell heir to $85,000 through the death of an uncle. It is understood that he will invest the money in real estate in Santa Cruz, Cal., the new winter quarters of the show. Mr. Brown is enthusiastic over the climate and future of the beautiful coast city.

climate and future of the beautiful coast city. Prof Hank Snyder was unable to put on his act with the Great American Star Shows a few days last week owing to a severe flesh wound received white attempting to recapture the lion used in his act. In preparing for the parade at Arlington Ohio, the cage containing the lion was upset and the beast escaped. After considerable fighting he was recaged.

Notes from the Cozad California
Dog and Pony Show: We have been in British Columbia and Alberta for the past month, enjoying a cool climate and good business. We returned from Nelson, B. C., to the United States August 22. We carry two cars, fifty dogs, fifty ponies, twenty monkeys, four goats, a band of twelve pieces led by J. K. Alvard, and a canvas eighty by thirty feet, with one forty-foot middle piece.

Following is the roster of advance car No. 1 with the Sun Brothers Show: Pete Sun, general agent; Clyde S. Clarke, contracting agent; O. R. Stewart, special agent; Chas. Holden, manager of car; Bert Moore, boss billiposter, with two assistants; John Reardon, lithographer; Fred Riley, programer; Orra Rowland, banners; Mike Noonan, Sam Gramling, George Stallinger and Harry Weaver, country route men, and Fred Wolf and Chas. Heath, railroad route men. The car has been out nineteen weeks.

Notes from the D. W. Tortlinger.

And Harry Weaver, country route men, and Fred Wolf and Chas. Heath, railroad route men. The car has been out nineteen weeks.

Notes from the D. V. Tantilinger, will do west with the Cosmopolitan Amusement Co.: The show is meeting with unlooked-for success. At Duluth, Minn., we played to S. B. O. The shooting of Mr. and Mrs. Tantilinger, as well as their boomerang throwing, is a feature. Ardmore, star bucker, holds the andlence in suspense until the act is over. The show lasts forty-five minutes, and is "sip bang" from start to finish. The Sloux Indians with the show engaged in a pow-wow with the Chippewas.

Mr. Ed. E. Daley, the well-known press agent of the Gentry Brothers Show, was the guest of Major Henry of the Evening Herald during the recent engagement at Duluth, Minn. After the evening performance on the newspaper men a bauten at the Spaulding staffs of both the Herald and Tribune were present. The four audiences at Duluth are said to have been the largest that ever witnessed a tent show in that city.

The roster of the advance force of the Cook & Barrett Show is as follows: Et. L. Brennan, general agent; M. S. McGrew and J. F. Schiller, contracting agents; M. C. Cookston, manager car No. 1; Walter Scott, boss ton, manager car No. 1; Walter Scott, boss billiposter, with W. A. Davidson, F. P. McDaniels, Fred Herman, Jas. Randolph, L. V. Farnum, F. E. Notes from the Hagenbeck Trained Animal Show: Buffalo, N. Y., proved to be a great success. Weather and business excellent. Newspapers declared the show to be the hest that ever visited Buffalo. Mr. Frank R. Tate of St. Louis and John H. Havlin of Cincinnati spent two days with Mr. C. Lee Williams, general manager, and Mr. Lorenz Hagenbeck. They decided to invite Mr. Carl Hagenbeck of Stellingen, Germany, to visit the visit the show as he had never seen it under canvas. In response to a cable from Mr. Williams, Mr. Hagenbeck replied: "Will cable steamer on which I sail. Will surely visit the show while you are in New York state." Mr. Al. Bode, the wagon maker of Cincinnati, and Max Kurzinski, the harness maker, were wecome visitors to the show in Buffalo, Luring the stay in New York, Mr. W. E. Notes from the Norris & Rowe Show:
During the engagement of the show in Ottawa, Can.. Sir Wilfred Laurier and a party of distinguished statesman and ladies attended with the stars and stripes. Sir Wilfred expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the performance, occupying a box decorated with the stars and stripes. Sir Wilfred expressed himself as being greatly pleased with the performance, which he said was the first of its kind he had visited in twenty years. Mr. H.
S. Rowe is contemplating a trip to Europe in the interest of the show. He will secure new features. While Lord Minto was governor-general of Canada, the Norris & Rowe Show, then a very small animal show, played before him on the lawn at Rideau Hall. That performance brought forth a letter of recommendation from the statesman, who recently became Lord Vicerny of India. Messrs, Norris & Rowe have preserved the letter, which they value highly. Last week the show played the same place and the people inned out en masse.

This is a perfect likeness of the original riding dog, Yula, owned and trained by Victor Bedini, of the celebrated Bedini family of riders now touring the country with the Ringling Brothers World's Greatest Shows. Yula is a Scotch collie of high pedigree, having been sired by the celebrated prize-winning collie, Tammas II., his dam being Lady Macdonald, another prize winner of international fame. Yula is the only dog to successfully accomplish a jump up from the ground to the back of a moving horse carrying three people, making a quartette of riders in a whirlwind finish. His act to be appreciated must be seen. No artist today doing his or her act takes as much interest as Yula does in his, which is evidenced by his anxiety for his cue and the perfect polse and incessant wagging of his tall. At the finish a continuous barking from the back of thehorse, which he occupies alone, is his acknowledgment of the never-failing round of applause that greets the finish of the act. This is the second season of the Bedinis and Yula with Ringling Brothers, and no number in the big abow is more pleasing.

so long a time for any one line of advertising. But then, the circus money is good money.

Col. George Washington, father of Ramsey Washington, of the John H. Otting Biliposting Co., died at his home in Newport, Ky., and was buried the following Saturday. During his lifetime Col. Washington attained great celebrity as a criminal lawyer, and was one of the most distinguished citizens of Kentucky.

The A. Baumgardt Distributing Agency of Albany, N. Y., has recently placed samples for Mapi-Flake, Nine O'clock Washing Tea and several other well-known articles in Albany, Coloca and Watervilet. A carnival that is to come off in October in Albany will make that point especially attractive to advertisers who have distributing to do.

At a recent meeting of the executive committee of the New England Biliposters' Association franchises were granted to the North Maine Biliposting Co., Burlington, Vt., for Winowski and Essex Junction, Vt.; Fiske Bill-posting Co., of Worcester, Mass., for Middlebury, Shrewsbury, Holden, Brookfield, Warren, Oxford, Northbridge and Auburn, Mass. All seven cent towns. At the same meeting Harry B. But, from the reports, there seems to be a disagreement among them just now, and a lively squabble for locations is under way. The fight seems to be affecting the business all over the island, and billposters are writing letters for publication expressing their opinions on the subject. Herein the English billposter gives evidence of a greater independence of spirit than is possessed by his American brother, who seems to be afraid to speak out when things are rotten. The principal kick is on the practice The principal kick is on the practice of the big firms, who try to grab all the business, to the detriment of the men in the small towns. A question very similar to the one that troubles American billposters, Objection is also made to the election of Mr. Walter Hill.

Theatre Royal. Gilbert and Sullivan's Repettoire Co. closed in Teoman of The Guard June 30, and opened in The Gondolters July 1; business heavy. Opened in The Mikado 8; S. R. O. Anderson's Dramatic Co. in The Midnight Mall 15; great preduction and excellent business.
Criterion Theatre. John F. Sheridan's Buslesque Co. in King Dodo closed June 23. This production did not make much of an impression and was replaced July 1 by Naughty Naney, which also proved weak. July 14, Fun as Bristol was put on and a good run was promised. The Earl and The Girl 22; capacity business and many turned away.

Palace Theatre. This house has been remodeled throughout and presents a brilliant specarance. It opened July 23 with The Great Thurston. Facked houses have been the rule, and his performances are bewitching.
Lyceum Theatre. The American Theatre-scope Co. continues to draw large houses with its excellent machines and films. It has been proven that with frequent changes of program the crowds turn out readily.

MERCY! HOW EVERYBODY LOVES SAYSO CONES

And the man behind the even wears that smile that wont come off. Are you getting your share of the coin that's foating around in the vicinity of the Sayso Ovens! Don't forget that agricultural fair near you, or that con vention, plende or other event where hundreds are waiting to hand the man that hands out the Saysos the coin of the realm—a fair exchange boys—a fair exchange and you are all to the good. "I like your evens the best," "Send six more same as last." I cleaned up a hundred plunks yesterday," and many other like expressions of exaberance are flashed to me by telegraph, conveyed to me by 'phone and speeded to me by letter every day the business on a small scale, or for concession—and the part of advice telling how to serve 'em hot, how to keep' em crisp for weeks, how to make up "Baby Saysos," how to meet and defeat competition, and a big lot of other information that is worth money to you; an locerream dipper for filling the cones, a ladle for measuring the batter, a large come shaper and a miniature one for making the balls yiss for advertising purposes, and last but not least, A Bakra's Dozen or Brautiful Sinns are one and the ball yis for of very order—no matter whether it is for a single cupola or the highest grade even I make—all from a ven, eighs 132 lba, capacity of the same liberal treatment and they all come back again and again. MANAGERS in need of people by reason of accident, sickness, indisposition or death are invited to wire us at either of our offices stating their requirements. All such wires are immediately bulletined on a very large black board with which each office is provided. Many actors, actresses, performers, musicians and agents who are at liberty look in on us daily and they always read the bulletins on the board. This is a quick means of getting in touch with the right people. This service is gratis. All Want Ads sent us for publication are also posted the moment received, and Managers frequently get application before the paper containing their ad comes out.

scheme of white and gold, it is a beautiful playhouse. Its new management originated the "unique" plan. Beginning with the Unique Theatre in Minneapolis, the company has acquired a string of twenty vaudeville houses in St. Paul, Winnipeg. Duluth, Milwaukee. Eau Claire, Racine, Chicago and other towns. It has leased a playhouse on the West-side which will be known as the Lyric. This will be opened as soon as it can be completed.

The syndicate also has an option on a State street theatre, and is negotiating for one in St. Louis. Owing to a prior lease, the State street house can not be had until sixty days have expired. Frank Maple, general manager of the company, has moved his headquarters to Chicago.

Business Manager George C. Warren, of Wovicker's Theatre, is sponsor for the following:

One would think the summer season had but just commenced to see the crowds going into White City these days. Contrary to all established precedent and recognized procedure at such resorts, the crowd Monday night was one of the largest—certainly the largest Monday night crowd—that has ever visited the great resort. The people who find at White City the music, mirth, Brilliance, relaxation and the wholesome recreation which seems necessary to Chicago life are taking advantage of the parting summer, and the management thinks it very nice of them. TERESTEE TO THE TERESTEE TO TH 100 COVIA

TALL clean-shaven young man strolled into the Empire The atre building one afternoon last week and asked the attendant at the door to direct him to the office of William Seymour, the theatrical manager.

"Right up those stairs," said the attendant. Now, the offices of the Empire Theatre building, perhaps, are the most mysterious maze of cubbrholes in the city. They are twisted around on all sides of the theatre proper; they are stuck into crevices between perplexing, intricate passageways, and then, again, they are pushed out over the roof so the low stores on all sides.

The tall, clean-shaven young man wandered up one flight, and then faced a stairway leading down again. He took this route and, fetching up at another flight of steps leading upward, he began to climb. After he had puffed and climbed awhile he came face to face with a blank door. He pushed it open and found himself on the roof overlooking Fortieth street. Cautiously he picked his way over the roof and made toward Broadway.

Then finding another door, be stepped in and descended another flight of dark, narrow stairs. At the bottom there was a small landing that led to another dark passegeway. descended another night of dark, harrow stairs. At the bottom there was a small landing that led to another dark passageway. The young man didn't see this, and turning short, fell down into inky nothingness. With a bang he landed against something hard. It gave way. It proved to be a door leading into the rathskeller of Mr. "Kid" McCoy's saloon. The young man's abrupt entrance was even more startling than those McCoy's employes are accustomed to. The sudden intruder was yanked by the collar and hurled up another flight of steps with a dull thud and flung on to the sidewalk of Fortieth street.

As the human missele lay gasping on the sidewalk a cab drove up and out stepped Wells Hawkes, a representative of Charles Frohman. "Hey, Wells!" howled the prostrate man from the sidewalk.

"Hawkes, a representative of Charles Frohman.
"Hey, Wells!" howled the prostrate man from the sidewalk.
"For God's sake, George, what's happened to you?"
"Don't ask me any questions." growled George Ade, "Dut if you see Bill Seymour tell him to hurry out to my prairie farm in Indians. I want to talk to him."
Mr. Ade is now able to be out, but he does not go near the Empire Theatre building. * * *

One of the severest criticisms of a performance on record is cited by Tim Murphy on a company which played in a Georgia city the night before he did. All the writer said was: "From our impression of last night's show we should advise the troupe to adopt as their motto the trade mark of a widely advertised candy cathartic: 'We work while you sleep.'"

Rice and Prevost, comedy acrobats

Rice and Prevost, comedy acrobats, whose bumpty bumps specialty has provoked many a laugh from Hammerstein Roof Garden audiences, have just been re-engaged by Oscar Hammerstein for next summer. The team of acrobats on their recent return from a very successful European tour came to the Victoria for their annual summer season and established, with the aid of the stage manager, a "star dressing room." which is regarded with awe not unmingled with respect by other performers at the Victoria Theatre. Both James Rice and his partner. Prevost, are practical jokers of the first water.

After consultation with the aforesaid stage manager, and many trips to the property room, they succeeded in rigging up a room that at first sight gives the casual visitor the impression of unwonted luxury. There is a couch draped with an Oriental rug, red velvet carpet upon the floor, a dressing table fitted out with various paraphernalis. a palm leaf fan in a beribboned rack hangs upon the wall, a pair of carpet slippers are displayed temptingly beside the conch. and a push button attached to the wall near by gives comforting assurance of refreshment to be had from the bar. Many have been the visitors to the star room during the warm nights of the present summer.

One unsuspecting victim was a prominent colored lawyer, who was introduced by Ernest Hogan. Mr. was unshered ceremonlously into the dressing room by James Rice: the paim leaf fan was tendered for his acceptance with a great show of ostentation. Young Prevost then insisted, somewhat to the visitor's astonishment, that the later should bedeck himself in the carpet slippers, while his partner officiously rang the push button, inquiring at the same time what his guest would "have." At first the visitor declined refreshment, but being pressed declared finally that his choice would be a Scotch high ball.

first the visitor declined refreshment, but being pressed declared finally that his choice would be a Scotch high hall.

"Very well, very well, Scotch it is," then amy out Rice, effusively. For fifteen or twenty minutes the gnest was entertained with extravagant expressions of solicitude for his comfort. The while Rice pressed the button furiously without response. At the end of this time it began to dearn upon the colored visitor that the whole affair was a joke—as indeed it was, the push button in the wall having no connection outside of the immediate space which it occupies, and the whole performance of exaggerated hospitality being simply rehearsed by the acrobats with the intent of "kidding"—to use their own vernacular. Meanwhile the real dressing room of Rice and Prevoet is in quite another part of the Victoria Theatre. It is as bare and unadorned as most stage dressing rooms, but whenever a newcomer arrives on the scene, and the two acrobats are seen to whisper confidentially in the wings, the stage manager smiles significantly, for he knows that they will add another victim to the list of those who have been duped by the push button, the palm leaf fan and the carpet slippers in the "star dressing room."

SOMETHING ABOUT SONGS

What Lee Feist Has Done and Expects to Do, With Some Reference to His Staff of Assistants and Associates

will no doubt be the reigning popular song hit of the country. It is a ballad, popular song and a coon song combined, and the author explains this freak by affirming that it was suggested to him while he was writing the lyric that it did not refer to a man or a woman, and that it was a ballad, a serio-comic creation, and at the same time could be used, if desired, as a coon song. The composition is a work of considerable originality insomuch that it possesses three distinctive songs in one, deftly woven to a pleasing melody from start to finish.

Strange to say, yet it is true, ballad writers prefer to have their works published early in January, as it usually requires the period between that date and the new season to introduce a ballad professionally.

CAINE'S PLAY A STRONG ONE

The latest of Hall Caine's many successes the Prodigal Son, was given its first public interpretation August 28 at the New Nation (Pheatre, Washington, D. C., by the following control of the control of Bruninghaus Marta Ella Greening First Croupler James Jamison Second Croupler Charles Hayne A success from the moment the first curtain the state of the property o A success from the moment the first curtain

A success from the moment the first curtain ascended, intense interest was sustained throughout the performance. The story, one of love and treachery, is a strong one dramatically told. As Oscar Stephenson, the cultured, though by no means faithful, brother of Magnus, Aubrey Boucleault appears to advantage. Magnus, who sacrifices himself and permits Oscar to marry the gkil of his choice, is splendidly portrayed by Edward Morgan. As Thora, Charlotte Walker becomes Oscar's wife, but all is grief after a year's say in Europe, because of the infidelity of her sister, Helga, and her husband. Oscar. The part of the merciless adventuress is well taken by Drina De Wolf. The first, second and fourth acts are laid in Iceland, and the third at the Casino in The Riviera, to which place Oscar and Helga have fied. The quiet mannerisms and customs of the northern country give rise to many pretty and novel scenes. The production is very elaborate, and Liebler & Co. have left nothing undone which might add to the success of the piece.

The audience was ultra fashionable, yet very enthusiastic. A number of cabinet members and other diplomats of lesser importance occupied boxes or orchestra chairs. The impression of The Prodigal Son was profound to a degree. It is one of these stupenduous productions the like of which is seidom witnessed.

The central theme of the comedy is the abandonment by Metz Engelbrecht of the life and habits of the gypsy and his return to the farm. In his endeavor to win back the wouldbe farmer the Indian chefran places him in a number of curious predicaments by circulating false reports concerning him. Quite a few original complications set in and the well-known dialect comedian is placed in a number of excellent positions, in all of which he acquits himself with subtle comedy. The performance was singularly smooth for a first night production. A number of new and quite catchy songs were sung by the comedian. The settings and costumes have received the proper attention.
The audience filled the house and entered heartliy into the spirit of the performance, giving frequent assurances of its approval by hearty applause.

The "stranger within our gates," numbering into thousands daily, are depended upon as patrons; for the Hippodrome has become as much one of New York's "sights to be seen" as is Grant's Tomb, Central Park, the Aquarium or other of the numerous the Aquarium or other of the numerou places known to fame. Just what bearing the attendance at the Hippodrome will have upon the profits of other theatrical managers in the metropolis remains to be seen. When the "Hip" opened last spring the season was starting to wane, but now Thompson & Dundy get a fair start with the new indoor amusement term and it is presumed that some of the other theatres in New York had best "stand from under" for the Hippodrome holds many under," for the Hippodrome holds many thousands and it is always packed to its capacity twice a day. In operas he'd watched the girls
On many an opening night;
He liked the maids with pretty curls
And arms of dasking white.
The peasant costumes pleased him much—
He said abroad he'd roam
Among the Spanish, French and Dutch
And see those girls at home.

Through foreign lands he gayly went
But all the girls he'd see
With tell were prematurely bent
Nor were they full of glee.
Upon the green they'd never dance
Nor e'en at windows spln;
He never saw them come and prance
Before the village inn.

He rosmed from Spain to far Cathay
But painful was his lot;
The further he pursued his way
The uglier they got.
He paused at every peasant's hut
In hopes a pearl to find
And saw all kinds of damsels but
The operatic kind.

NLY six more weeks remain of the Lewis and Clark Exposition period. The big western fair will be brought to a close October 15. So far, the attendance at the Exposition has been more than gratifying, in fact it has quite exceeded expectations. During the months of July and August the daily attendance played around the 20,000 mark. Though the attendance has mainly been contributed from the western states, which naturally would feel more interest and take vastly FAIR NOTES wards employed by the Baldwin Brothers, the Indiana balloon makers. His real name was William Ivy, but the adopted name of Prof. demonstrations in aerial warfare, being employed part of the time during the Spanish-American war in Cuba. He was considered an expert at handling explosives, and it is very evident that the explosion was caused by a previous explosion of the gas used in the airship.

Mrs. Baldwin was prostrated with grief over the sad accident. She is still in a critical condition. Besides a widow, Prof. Baldwin leaves two small children, with whom a nation of showmen join in mourning the sad and untimely death of one they had learned to honor and respect.

STREET FAIR NOTES

About two hundred people of Water-loo, Ia., attended the street fair and carnival put on at Cedar Falls by the New Parker Amuse-ment Co.

comedy acrobats and have many remarkable exhibitions. Armstrong and Holly are seen in their farce, The Expressman, and Jimmy Wall entertains with his parodies and monologue. Marcus and Gartelle accomplish difficult roller skating tricks, and Pierce and Mazie sing. Jeanne Brooks is a comedienne.

Maurice Magnus was here from New York last week closing up some business affairs. He has a theatrical project under way that promises some interesting developments.

At the Haymarket Pauline Hall makes her first appearance here. Miss Hall offers a program of her most successful numbers taken from the leading operas with which she has been identified. Air. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher offer Ezra Kendall's rural comedy, The Half-way House. Zazelle and Vernon contribute some very clever comedy acrobatics in their pantomime sketch and M. Clivette, illusionist and card manipulator, has many novelties to offer. Pat Booney, son of the famous dancer, and Marion Bent have a musical comedy, and Les Elgonas, comedy acrobats, prove entertaining. Among the others are J. C. Nugent and company, Tegge and Daniels and Nettie Fields.

come caller at the Chicago office Friday, 1.

The regular stock reason of the New Marlowe was inaugurated Sunday afternon with Mr. Barnes, of New York. Willis Hall, an established favorite with south-side theatregoers, has been retained for leading roles. Other members of the company include Frederick Julian, Willard Deshelli, Frank Tobin. Sam Hunt, Maud Leon, Agnes Blial, Edith Julian and Maud Atherton. All have won for themselves praise for their excellent work and a creditable production marked the opening Sunday.

The Washington Society Girls are at the Folly in the two burlesques. Oh, What Joy, and Krausmyer's Alley. The vaudeville portion of the bill is composed of Grace Mantell, singer; West and Williams, comedians and parody singers: the Marvelous Eldora. In juggling feats; Frank Willis, the clever German comedian; Dave Marion, singing comedian, in his original and highly successful act. Moving Day, and as an added feature Ah Ling Foo, the mysterious Chinese conjurer.

The theatrical game in Chicago opened Sunday, 3, and will be played continuously hereafter, rain or shine, for forty weeks or more.

At the Clark Street Museum Monday

At the Clark Street Museum Monday

At the Clark Street Museum Monday morning Mme. Simms was hypnotized by H. V. Seldenberg and will sleep for seven days and seven nights in a den of snakes. Other features are the Ormsby "quads." now four years old; Chauncy Moreland, who weighs 630 pounds. And Edith King. who scales forty pounds: Prof. Howley, magician and Prof. Burras' pet monkeys.

At the Trocadero Richard Carle's burlesque on 'Way Down East is the principal feature of the entertainment given his week by the Gay Masqueraders.

General Manager George H. Hines returned to Chicago Saturday after a week's sojourn in New York City. where he was in conference with Messrs. Thompson & Dundy to arrange for the Hines-Elske-Willard syndicated attractions at Luna Park next season. Mr. Hines closed contracts for the Blake Dog and Monkey Circus and the Nine Missienl Willard's Temple of Music, which will be included in Luna Park's features next summer. Messrs. Thompson & Dundy assured Mr. Hines that they are to erect a Hippodrome in Chicago and this would seem to definitely settle the Chicago Hippodrome matter beyond all further question.

Fred B. ("Hannov") Holmes passed through Chicago Thursday, August 24, on his way from the Great Parker Amusement Co. to Dallas, Tex., where he is now arranging attractions for the Dallas Fair to he held from September 30 to October 15, inclusive. Mr. Holmes is making his headquarters at the Oriental hotel. Dallas, it has not severed his connection with the Parker Amusement Co. and retains control of Creation and Peggy From Paris with that organization. During his absence in Dallas, Charles Washburn, now in front of the Prof. Blake's Dog. Pony and Monkey Show, at White City, will manage Peggy From Paris for Mr. Holmes and Will G. Jones will look after Creation. Mr. Holmes reported a wonderful success with the carnival, and declares that the Dallas fair will eclipse anything heretofore attempted in this country.

Fours and Scenes of the World THE GREATEST SUCCESS EVER BROUGHT BEFORE THE PUBLIC AS A PARK AMUSEMENT DEVICE. AROUND THE WORLD IN A CAR

HALE'S

The device consists of a dummy rai road observation car, automobile, street car, vehicle, or boat, pen at the front end, seats so arranged across the car that all passengers have an unobstructed view to the front end of car. At front end of car is a screen upon which moving pictures are thrown representing and showing rid; s over railroads, through cities on street cars or vehicles, etc. When operated, the car or vehicle is in a darkened room or tunnel, so arranged that the passengers can see nothing but the picture before them. The car is swung on wheels and pulleys, mechanically arranged so that the sound and swing of a moving train or vehicle is reproduced. The bell, the whitele, and the air exhaust make the illusion complete. It is pronounced by all who have seen it a complete and safe illusion of any ride anywhere. It is the greatest money-naker everyet brought out. 35 percent of the people attending the park visited the exhibition. Concessions wanted. Licenses and privileges for sale to responsible parties only. Any infringements, imitations or frauds will be promptly and vigorously prosecuted.

A VERY IMPORTANT QUESTION for park men. In the selection of wait until the winter season, and are then obliged to make their selections without any opportunity to make a personal investigation of the merits or demerits of the device under consideration. The operating season is the only proper time to investigate amusement devices. See them in operation, study their safety, their earning capacity, compare their patronage with other devices in competion. other devices in competion.

BELIEVING THAT EVERY PARK MAN, in quest of new amuse-parks during the operating season, and acquaint himself with every detail of proposed new features, the FEDERAL CONSTRUCTION COMPANY, extends a general invitation to all interested parties to visit the Chutes, Chicago, and inspect their latest creations constructed by their Company and now in operation at this park, viz: the Velvet Coaster, the Aerostat, the Katzenjammer Castle and the Mystic Rill. the Katzenjammer Castle and the Mystic Rill.

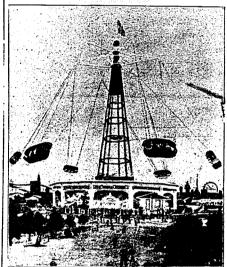

The Velvet Coaster

Is a new departure in pleasure railways. It has all the sensations of a scenic railway, without any noise or danger. No cast iron is used in the construction of the cars. All running parts are of phosphor bronze and hammered steel. Cars are of handsome design, upholstered in best wool plush. The Velvet Coaster has been pronounced by all who have ridden it as the most delightful ride ever invented. It is absolutely noiseless and runs as smooth as a cutter on new snow. Earning capacity $150 per hour. Don't fail to see the Velvet Coaster before closing for a pleasure railway.

The Aerostat

Is a safe and sane Circle Swing and consists of a six-leg steel tower, Gusset Plate Bridge construction, over which is telescoped a solid steel cantilever crown truss with six or more radiating arms. The crown truss rests upon 153 one-inch steel balls, each by a special ball retainer, traveling in its own path between two case hardened plates. The cars are suspended from the crown truss arms and the safety of the passengers is in no way dependent upon any part of the machinery. A thirty-six-passenger swing requires six and one-half H. P. to operate. No brakes are used, yet by the use of our controling device, the swing can be brought to a dead stop, without a jar, in thirty seconds. Our structure is an ornament in any park, and when lighted presents a magnificent. ornament in any park, and when lighted presents a magnificent spectacle. Capacity of six-car swing, $72 per hour. AEROSTAT.

The Katzenjammer Castle

Is doing its own advertizing. We have built and licened fourteen this season, and every one shows surprising returns for the money invested. Reports from several Eastern resorts show the Katzenjammer Castle to be earning more money than many amusements costing from $20,000 to $35,000. The cost of operating the Katzenjammer Castle, including light and power, is $35 per week. Earning capacity, $150 per hour.

Our Mystic Rill

Is an up-to-date pleasure canal that should be investigated by any one proposing to place amusements of this nature.

ABOR DAY, September 4, was an eventful date in New York's present theatrical season, for on that evening six important productions were made and one of the best stock companies New York has known in many years began its reign. For the purpose of reference, we give here the cast and a brief notation as to the critical epinions of those plays which are new to New York. Later on an extended review of the various productions here referred t will appear in this department.

It seems to be generally conceded that the Bogers Brothers have the best vehicle and presenting company they have offered to public view since they entered stardom. Corime divided the honors of the event and the Bogers Brethers won a signal success.

This production was made on Tuesday evening. Robert Loraine scored a personal success. Of the play it is said that Shaw has been out-Shawed, the frankness of some of the lines and the tenseness of some of the situations being particularly commented upon by the critics.

The Fifth Avenue Theatre arose to the equal of its location and history on Labor Day, when Frederick F. Proctor's all-star company opened its season. Amelia Bingham and Chas. Richman led a superior organization through the engaging scenes of The Frisky Mrs. Johnson, and the new departure gained a most auspicious inaugural. Prices have been advanced to meet the average tariff of Broadway, and but four matiness will be given way, and but four matinces wi!! be given weekly. Vaudeville has been entirely eliminated, and the Fifth Avenue has taken on its old-time air of gentility and importance among hours necessary to the entertainment. Individual effort is largely lost in the vastness of the surroundings, but the concerted effort of the company provides an evening of great en-Numerous and clever ideas in stage ingenuity invite admiration, come often as dis tinct surprises and create merriment whenever introduced.

One of these features consists of a series of sectional burlesque véhicles, a ship, a locomotive, an automobile and a "rubber neck" wagon, several men carrying a section and contributing a share to the fun of the moment. There are ten beautiful scenes in the three acts of the piece, some of them being marvels of beauty. If The Pearl and The Pumpkin does not "like long and prepare" the theatreater. not "live long and prosper" the theatregoin public will not have contributed to it a just desert; for the money invested, the great num-ber of people engaged, the vastness and beauty of the production and the excellence of the entertainment surely merits an abundantly profit thle return.

of the production and the excellence of the entertainment surely merits an abundantly profitable return.

Of the great number of people employed in The Pearl and The Pumpkin Ethel Johnson is conspicuous for her youthful agility, attractiveness and interested energy. She dances with an ease and grace which must come of her highly encessified and she is threless in her highly encessified and she is threless in her highly encessified the most opportunities. Sager Midgle the most opportunities. Sager Midgle the control of the company opportunities. Sager Midgle the modulated singing voice with excellent effoct. The Boer War ended its all-summers stay at Brighton Beach Park with its performance on Labor Day, it is not likely that the exhibition will ever be given again, for the company has disbanded and the foreign solders and civilians engaged in the production are going to make their way home as best they can. The Boer War at the St. Louis Fair, and upon the road has proven to be two distinctively different propositions. Business has never, during the travels of the organization, been of sufficient magnitude to either reward where the continuous propositions are produced as a supplied of the continuous propositions. Coney Island until springtime.

Mile. Ani Hill, the talented wife of Harry Hill, who was to have been featured in Gay New York, has changed her plans for the coming season, and has finally decided to enter vaudeville. In that field sne is well and favorably known as an artist of exceptional ability. She will present a new offering of character changes a la Vesta Tilly, and the late Bessie Bonehill, and will also introduce her peerless trapeze specialty. Miss Hill has many offers to go across the pond, also, and she may possibly go to England for the Christmas pantomime season.

Notes and Gossip of the Week. OY KNABENSHUE, the Toleoy KNABENSHUE, the Toledo aeronaut whose remarkable shue is to receive $1,000 it he makes the trip successfully. For a start he will be paid $2,000. The task of making a flight over Chicago, Knabenshue says, will be the most difficult and hazardous ever attempted, because of the peculiar character of the winds coming from off the lake. The task is a hard one, but if he succeeds, his reputation as a better operator than Santos-Dumont will have been established. The contract stipulates that Knabenshue is to start from the White City in his airship, circle the Masonic Temple, which is twenty-two stories high, and then return to the starting point. The distance from the White City to the Masonic Temple and return is fourteen miles. This is the longest flight Knabenshue ever attempted. His flight in New York was over a course of six miles. He appeared to be in complete control of the mechanism. Manager Howse is of the opinion the Chicago flight will prove too much for the young aeronaut.

Knabenshue's performance will be the most daring feat ever attempted in Chicago. If he succeeds in circling the Masonic Temple his reputation as the foremost aerial navigator of the world will be made. This is the season of glory for the chorus girl. Never has there been such a demand for good-looking, good-singing girls. Aspirants for places in the chorus are cheered by the assurance that it is probable that chorus recruiting stations throughout the country may become a necessity.

David Higgins, with a strong, well-dressed company in a return engagement with the play, His Last Dollar, proved a strong attraction for the Great Northern Theatre last week. This is the third season for this Kentucky remance, and it has lost nothing of its drawing powers. It is still full of homely humor, tense situations and has a dash and a go about it that can not help but please people who like a melodramatic thrill now and again.

There is a wholesomeness about the play which who like a melodramatic thrill now and again. There is a wholesomeness about the play, which by the way, is the joint production of David Higgins and Baldwin G. Cooke, that is pleasing. It is a piece with much comedy and considerable heart interest, and has the merit of being natural and realistic.

The part of Joe Braxton, ex-jockey, ex-cow-boy and millionaire, is exactly suited to the requirements and talents of Mr. Higgins. But will. J. DAVIS

By this we are not led to infer that he will cease to be identified with the management and direction of the Barnum & Bailey, Buffalo Bill and Forepaugh-Sells Brothers shows, but rather that he will retire to the comrorts of his palatial Mount Vernon home, and from there send forth Mount Vernon home, and from there send forth instructions to able lleutenants with his respective amusement interests. We have not been able to confirm this rumor, but are prompted to make mention of it in the face of its persistent repetition, which would seem to lend a degree of truth to the report. ---

ONDAY night with the production of The Duffer, at the Comedy, another London dramatic season was inangurated.

Mr. Weedon Grossmith's new play, though interesting and amusing, would have been more acceptable had it been in three instead of in four acts, for in that case some of the small talk and also some of the tedious serious talk, could have been omitted without loss to the audience. The Duffer, who is the butt of the school, and who is slwave falling in love with jected. The Duffer, who is the butt of the school, and who is always failing in love with someone, shares a similar fate. Chester is the favored youth, but having heard a report that fliobe is to marry Paul, goes off to the wars. Niobe, in struggle with poverty, is assisted anonymously by Paul, who has resolved not to compete for the Academy. He overhears, showever, a remark of Niobe to the effect that it he had come to her in her distress and asked her to marry him she would have consented. Inspired by this, he sets to work on his great painting, and gets. Niobe to sit for him. He again proposes and is again rejected, and in a fit of mad despair destroys his own painting. The Duffer, who has made great progress as an artist, comes to the rescue, finishes the picture, and the medal is won, of course, with Paul's work. Chester, in the long run, wins Niobe and The Duffer pairs off with a respectable model. The interest and amusement is chiefly sustained by Mr. Grossmith, who plays The Duffer with all his wonied skill and humor. The part of Paul is well played by Mr. H. Ainley, and that of Chester by Mr. W. T. Lovell, while Miss Beryl Faber gives a capital rendering of Niobe. BOUT four years ago, when BOUT four years ago, when the management of the Dearborn Theatre, in Chicago, was attempting to convert their playhouse from a popular-priced theatre into one of the first-class, they began casting around for a musical comedian who could attract the "carriage trade," which, in theatrical parlance, stands for the people when come to the theatre in carriages, and are willing to pay the best prices for high-class entertainment.

After considering several players the Dearborn managers finally hit upon Richard Carle, who shortly before, returned from London, where he had achieved much popularity in musical plays. Mr. Carle was accordingly engaged. He worked untiringly to attract the "carriage trade," but his efforts for a time seemed futile. The Dearborn Theatre had been catering to a popular-priced clientele for so long that it seemed impossible to reach the better-paying class of theatregoers.

Mr. Carle was finally successful when he produced The Tenderfoot. Before the unqualified success of this piece, however, an amusing incident occurred.

It was during the playwright's first three months at the Dearborn, and hardly a carriage trade was added to the roster of the victims of circumstance.

produced The Tenderfoot. Before the unqualited secess of this piece, however, an amusing incident occurred.

It was during the playwright's first three months at the Dearborn, and hardly a carriage had drawn up at the entrance throughout the twelve or thirteen weeks of his engagement.

One afternoon, shortly before a Saturday matinee. Mr. Carle came downtown and found the street in front of the theatre blocked with imposing equipages.

"Not a one-horse rig in the lot," was the optical rote he made in passing.

Pleased beyond power of expression, he danced into the buffet under the theatre and sedered some wine with which to drink his ewn good fortune.

Unaccustomed to such prankish bilarity on the part of Mr. Carle, who is usually of a thoughtful and retiring disposition, the white-aproned diplomat behind the bar remarked:

"Why so merry so early in the day?"

"Why so merry? I've a right to be merry," exclaimed the actor. "Just cast your eye along that line of carriages blocking the street out there. I've been trying for two or three months to land the carriage folk and at last—success! Look at the vehicle parade in honor off my matinee!"

"Naw," said the barkeep. "There's a promise man died of a sudden in the hotel next door. That's his funeral."

"Aw," said the barkeep. "There's a promise man died of a sudden in the hotel next door. That's his funeral."

When Carle was appearing with The Greek Slave in Boston several years ago he played a role the nature of which made it impossible for bim to wear his eyegisases. and Frederick Ranken, entitled Happyland, had an amusing experience some days ago in an elevated railway train in New York. Mr. Hopper was scated opposite a young man and woman, both fresh from the country—both talking in a tone that proved them to be totally unconscious of their surroundings. As the train pulled out of the Canal street station, Mr. Hopper heard the following:

"Don't tell me to wait, dear. We might as well be married now as any time."

The girl blushed, appeared to consider, and then answered: "I reckon you're right, Will."

The train had fairly started and Will turned squarely around to his companion as he said: "That settles it now. When shall we be married?"

Even Mr. Hopper, who had become innocently interested in the wooing, was startled, but the lovers were dumbfounded. Both turned quickly and, as fate would have it, the guard was looking casnally but directly at them. To the strangers, who knew nothing of station calls, it seemed as if he was talking to them and his remark fitted so patly with Will's query that it was like an impertment answer. Mr. Hopper, amused at first, finally took pit on the pair and explained that the man on the platform had intended only to call out the street at which the train stopped next.

NEW HOUSE FOR FAYETTEVILLE

The Deadwood Dick jr., Co., which has played a summer engagement at Electric Park Theatre. Parsons, Kan., opened its winter tour September 4 at the Elks' Theatre, same city. The company is owned and managed by Hugh Morrison, Aleene Morrison, E. J. Murphy, Ben. Clament and Gladys Fuller are prominent members of the cast.

The highest praise the present writer can give to As Ye Sow, which last night was produced for the first time on any stage at McVicker's theatre, is to say that it is the first of the "down east b'gosh" plays he has been able to sit through since Shore Acres, which, by the way, also saw the footlights for the first time on the same stage thirteen years ago. The explanation is to be found in the acting, which was exceptionally good in nearly all respects. Seldom is there seen on the stage a more manly, unaffected, engaging per sonality than that of Frank Gillmore, who represented the clergyman-hero. His role is not a difficult one, but he played it with so much sincertity and charm that it was a delight to observe him. Hardly second to him in winning the sympathy and good-will of the audience was Douglas Fairbanks. In a comic juvenile role, and he was greatly assisted by the breezy young woman, Miss Marlan A. Chapman, who played opposite to him. Miss Helen MacGregor as the heroine, in a part that would have tested

The above is an excellent likeness of George Kall, the phenomenal juggler who creates a very favorable impression at every appearance. Mr. Kall's act is so skillfully constructed and so neatly executed that he has been called "The Prince of Jugglers." At present he is with the Reno & Alvord's Show. He has a number of good dates to follow.

sne was in the support of Louis Mann in The Second Fiddle. Miss Revell will make her first appearance with Mr. Daly on Monday, Septembr. 16, playing the wife in How He Lied To Her Husband. Later she will have an important role in one of his new productions. The other leading women of the Arnold Daly company will be Miss Chrystal Herne and Miss Mary Hampton Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street Theatre, New York, opened its fall and winter season last week. This offering included John T. Kelly, who, for several years, was with the all star Stock company of Weber & Fields; Edward Blondell, Hickey and Nelson, Ward and Curran, Artle Hall, Magnani Family, Young Americus Quintet, and, as an extra star feature, the Chinese melodrama, The Cat and The Cherub.

Miss Dorothy Maynard will succeed Miss Dorothy Russell as the prima donna of the Piff, Paff, Pouff Co. She will be heard as Nora Mellon at the matinee today for the first time.

Miss Frances Stevens of the Alice Fischer company, playing The School for Husbands, commenced her stage career as a child actress, in the city, with the opera company organized by the late W. O. Coup in the old Clark Street

Fred Perry has been engaged by Daniel V. Arthur to stage the Boyle-Hobart Hein comedy, with music, Moonshine, in which Miss Marie Cahill will star this season. Miss Gertrude Hoffman will put on the musical numbers.

Henry W. Savage intends to make a revival of The Yankee Consul, Henry M. Blossom's successful musical comedy, and Raymond Hitchcock will be seen in the role he created.

Charles Hawtry had a narrow escape from with the Cecilla Loftus Concert company, appearing in London recently. He was pearing in a one-act sketch which scored a hit.

LULU GLASER

Sowing the Wind is to be revived the coming season under the management of Al. S. Roth, with Suzanne Santje in the leading role.

A new song, Teddy, Our Hats Are Off to You, is to be introduced in The Sleeping Beauty and The Beast.

M Otis Skinner has engaged for his revival of live Fitch's His Grace De Grammont in Buffalo.

LATE CHICAGO NEWS

A NIBOLICA NIBO

The Grand Opera House will throw open its doors September 17 for the new Julian Mitchell production of Alice and The Eight Princesses, a musical extravaganza, with music by Victor Herbert and book by Glen McDonough. The cast eagaged is headed by Sam Chip and Eve Bavenport. Others in the company are Bessle Clayton, Lotta Faust, Bessle Wynn, Albertina Benson, Smith and Cook, D. L. Don and the choral assistance of an army of girls. The first production will take place in Buffalo, September 14, the company coming directly here after its engagement there.

At the Olympic, week 11, Felix, Barry and Barry entertain with songs, dancing numbers and eccentric acrobatics. This clever trio have a lively farce, The Boy Next Door. Pauline Hall, the comic opera star, makes her downtown appearance in a program of successes taken from operas with which she has been identified. Carlin and Otto, who are laughprovokers on lines different from the ordinary Dutch comedians, are among the stars of the bill. The Musical Avalos, European novelty artists, render some pleasing numbers. Troba, the scientific juggler, offers some novel feats, and the Bellclaire Brothers prove interesting to lovers of musical development. Ethel Robinson sings her popular songs, and Lindsay's dogs and monkeys are seen in a miniature circus. Among others are Fox and Summers, Lemairie and LeMaririe and Ben Turpen.

The Spooks, with their original minstrel show, are the stars at the Heymarket this week. Mosher, Houghton and Mosher, the eccentric bicycle artists, have elaborated their steel in a pantomime, and their acrobatics are entertaining. Dorothy Drew has her popular songs, and Alfred Kelcey and company offer the one-act comedy, The Pipe of The Gods, in which a sporty young man is detected by his old uncle. Joe Flynn and his parodics, monologue and stories is amusing, and Pierce and Mazie, with their special scenery and gorgeous costumes, have a singing and dancing novelty. Others are Raimund and Good, Herr Schoenwerk, Holmes and Waltone and Charles Gloss

The theatrical novelty this week is Frank Daniels in his Sergeant Brue at the Illinois. The engagement is for three weeks. Mr. Daniels, in the title role, has innumerable opportunities to give vent to his inimitable humor, and is supported by n capable company, which includes Sallie Fischer, Clara Belle Jerome, Charlotte Leslay, Annabelle Whitford, Sally Daly, Bertha Morelle, Della Connor, Greta Burdick, Milly Cook, Myrtle McGrain, Virginia Harms, Anna Hall, Miriam Norris, Charles Drew, George Lestocq, Gilbert Clayton, Charles worth Meakins, David Bennett and Nell Walton. Established in 1900, the Western Bargain House, at 272 East Madison street, Chicago, is readily recognized as one of the leading streetmen's specialty establishments in this country. Four floors and a basement are utilized in carrying on the Western Bargain House business, and the management, liberal in its policy, always maintaining a high stan dard for promptness and reliability, reports the season of 1903 as the most prosperous in their career.

MOTION PICTURE EQUIPMENTS

cally every vaudeville house in the United States.

A very large fraction of all moving picture machines, lenses, films, etc., that are used in this country pass through our establishment.

Theatre Managers who are about to buy moving picture machines, stereopticons, lenses, etc., are invited to write us for information and prices, or call at our address.

The most important item in the purchase of a moving picture machine is the objective lens, which frequently receives too little consideration. Lenses shipped with machines from the factories may not project the right size picture, and changes must be made for many theatres.

F Our large stock of objective lenses is at the disposal of machine buyers, and customers are invited to specify the distance at which they want to project and the size of the picture preferred.

We furnish the right lens for the right place.

When ordering a moving picture machine of us, specify distance from the machine to curtain, and size of picture wanted; you will receive a machine that does the work.

The Greater Norris & Rowe Shows conclided their Canadian tour August 31 at shows has already closed, and before another fortnight has passed several others will have rolled the red wagons into the barns and stored the canvas away for the winter. Still, there have been no great losses, no forced transfers or relinquishments, and for the most part salaries have been paid regularly. In meritorious productions, in transportation facilities and in the general principles of conduct, the season has witnessed, so far as the time-tried institutions are concerned, an improvement that augurs well for the tent show as an amusement enterprise.

Review of the Circus Season Universally it has been a bad season. Only a few shows have made money, and no records have been broken for laws.

Universally it has arrangements for 1906, therefore will not make any engagements at present. Respectfully yours, W. L. MAIN.

Editor The Billboard, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Sir: Sometime ago there appeared in the circus columns of your paper a cut of mine and a statement that I might re-enter the circus business in 1906.

This town would like very much to have a circus. It is a railroad division, has a population of 3,500, has railroad machine shops and is a good circus town. Please refer to some circus.

Friends of D. G. Markle will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly regaining strength after his long slege of typhold. Mr. Markle has severed his connection with the sichel Show, and is now upon his farm at Alberta, Can. All mail should be addressed to Star, Alberta, Can.

The St. Leon Family of acrobats and equestrians closed with the W. P. Hall Shows at Princeton, Mo., to fulfil an engagement with the Pain Fireworks Co. The parting was very affective. The Italian Band rendered appropriate selections and as the train was leaving Clark's band struck up Auld Lang Syne.

Mexican George, the rough rider,

Vic. Hugo, recently of the Barnum & Bailey Show, has opened up the People's Theatre in Cedar Rapids, Ia.

cause his family objected to the match.

The addvance sale for the Barnum & Bailey Show in San Francisco is said to be the largest in circus history. The show remains in 'Frisco seven days. It has changed considerably from ye olden days. The old Wilson, the Royal Italian and Montgomery Queen used to stay in 'Frisco from two weeks to two months, with smaller canvases and at higher prices.

Capt. Jake Hindman, who about hirty years ago toured Australia with the W. V. Cole Circus, and is now a respected and rorthy citizen of Houston. Tex., has fallen elir to a third part of something like $7,000,000 eff by his father. The captain joined the how against his father's wishes, and after his eturn he never corresponded with his parents, who supposed him dead.

Manager D. S. Ward and son, of advance car No. 1, of the Lemon Brothers Show, has gone to his home in Coldwater, Mich.; Joe Mulvihill to Chicago. Harry Lady to Akron. Ohio. Robert Morris to Denver, Knowles Casady to Biverside, Cal., H. W. Hardy to Oklahoma City, Lewis Doty to Coldwater, Mich., E. N. Smith to Chillicothe, Mo., and Jno Hurley and Wm. Houtz to Kansas City, Mo.

Because of illness, George B. Beckley, the veteran circus agent, has been compelled to close as manager of advance car No. 1 of the Sells & Downs' Show and seek relief in the hospital in Philadelphia, where he will remain for several months. Through these columns Mr. Beckley wishes to extend his sincere thanks to M. J. Downs, "Doc" Hanley and, in fact, the entire management of the show. In his extended experience he says he has never been treated with more consideration.

The Eagles' Carnival, of Jackson, Ill, held week of August 28, was highly successful. The Great Parker Emusement Co. put on the attractions, all of which were well patronized.

James Adams, of the Jones-Adams Congress of Novelties, personally superintended the construction of the animal wagons which joined the show Labor Day at Manchester, Va.

The Excelsior Carnival Co. closed its season September 9 at Norristown, Pa. The company opened May 1 and met with not a single misfortune the entire season. Next year they play the same route.

Billposters

National Billposte and Billers

Kansas City is trying to stir up trouble for Mel. Hudson. An ordinance has been presented and passed by the Council to regulate billboards; but somewhere in the course of its meanderings someone interlined the words "ten feet," when it was intended that the limit for the height of boards should be but eight feet, and now there is trouble among the law makers. It is strange that all these so-called bill-board regulating ordinances should contain prohibitive provisions. It is not a nice thing to say of otherwise reputable men, but the only conclusion they leave for us is that they do not act in good faith when they take up the billboard question. billboard question.

If there is a demand—a genuine demand—for billboard "regulation," it might be taken along the line of requiring the billposter to build iron boards; to keep waste paper cleared up behind, as well as in front of, his boards; to compel the billposter to keep the paper on the boards in good condition. These points cover the really objectionable features of the business. It is the careless billposter business. It is the careless biliposter who allows paper to accumulate around his boards; who allows his boards to become rickity and otherwise dilapidated that brings the business of the business. ness into bad repute.

Ten years ago the billboards were covered with advertisements of firms who did not use a line of newspaper advertising. They believed that they could get the same results by pasting up filmsy old signs, that were destroyed by the first rainstorm.

The line between the newspaper advertiser and the billboard advertiser was as sharply drawn as though cut with a knife. It seemed to be an accepted truism in some lines of trade that he who advertises on the billboard is foolish to advertise in the newspapers. But this is all changed now.

The newspaper advertisers have gradually overcome their billboard rivals. And they have also taken up the space once used so unworthily by those who believed in billboard methods only. The "billboard only" merchant has either gone down in the competition or adopted the improved methods of his adversaries.

The foregoing is from the Binghamton, N. Y., Press. It is a near-sighted view of the condition of things expressing the blind opposition of the view of the condition of things expressing the bilind opposition of the average newspaper to a medum of publicity in the profits of which it does not share. There is not a statement in the item that is correct. The writer has only to look about him upon the billboards in his own town to find his every argument refuted. What is true in European the United States. Every year finds a host of new converts to Poster Advertising who have come from the ranks of the "exclusive newspaper" advertisers. Think it must have been the office boy who wrote the Press them.

IN A BOOK OF OLD PLAYS

At Cato's Head, in Russell street, These leaves she sat a stitching; I fancy she was trim and neat, Blue-eyed and quite bewitching.

While, filling many a sedan chair With monstrous hoop and feather, In paint and powder London's fair Went trooping past together.

Swift, Addison and Pope, mayhap They sauntered slowly past her, Or printer's how with They sauntered slowly past her, or printer's boy, with gown and cap For Steele, went trotting faster. For beau nor wit had she a look, Nor lord nor lady minding: She bent her head above this book, Attentive to her binding.

And one stray thread of golden hair, Caught on her nimble fingers, Was stitched within this volume where Until to-day it lingers.

Until to-day it lingers.

Past and forgotten, beaux and fair,
Wigs, powder, all outdated;
A queer antique, the sedan chair,
Pope, stiff and antiquated. Yet as I turn these odd, old plays, This single stray lock finding. I'm back to those forgotten days And watch her at her binding.

The autograph fever evidently shows no signs a decline or a decrease in interest. Proof a decline or a decrease in interest. Pro-fessional people, who at one time sneered at ordinary folks who collected autographs, are now numbered among the most ardent support-ers of this fad, and some of our most prom-inent players, artists and singers carry auto-graph albums with them wherever they go. Ethel Levey, who is appearing this season in Lattle Johnny Jones, frankly calls herself an autograph "fiend." Miss Levey has an auto-graph album that differs from the ordinary book in that it is not necessary for the writer autograph "fiend." Miss Levey has an autograph aboum that differs from the ordinary book in that it is not necessary for the writer of the autograph to become the author of the sentiment, as the various sentiments are printed in the book. All that is required is for the person to select a sentiment, and place his or her autograph beneath it. The book was not originally intended for an autograph album, for it is entitled "A Thousand Flashes of French Wit." Miss Levey has been very industrious in securing the autographs of a great many prominent people, and her little book is intensely interesting, as it conveys the sentments of many people well known in the field of drama as well as the literary world.

A few extracts from Miss Levey's book are printed below:

A few extracts from Miss Levey's DOOR are printed below:

"To select well among old things is almost equal to inventing new ones."—Nellie Melba.

"What seems only Indicrous is sometimes very serious."—Ellen Terry.

"A burlesque word is often a mighty sermon."—J. Ferbes Robertson.

"A delicate thought is a flower of the mind."

—Gertrude Elliott.

"A truth that one does not understand becomes an error."—Enuma Caive.

OPERATES WITH A CENT.

THE CRACK SHOT PISTOL is the latest of Coin Controlled Machines. It affords free arm revolver practice, absolutely accurate, without the use of a loaded weapon, and delivers the result of your markmanship on a target after each shot. The machine takes up very little floor space, and can be set up to shoot at from a 15ft. to a 30ft. range. One of the greatest machines for Pemy Arcades that has ever been invented. This machine can also be placed in Billiard Parlors, Salcons, and public places.

IT IS ABSOLUTELY MECHANICAL. MACHINES READY FOR IMMEDIATE DELIVERY For terms and further particulars write to MESSES. EMERY & TARBELL. DEAR SIE:—I have several stands, and have tried all the Cone Ovens, and find yours the most practical of any on the market, for the reason that yours bake quicker and turn out a golden crisp cone, which is far better than any other I have ever had any experience with. I have disposed of all other irons, putting your Ovens in place of them. With your Oven my sales are increasing. THEY SELL ALMOST AS WELL IN COLD WEATHER AS THEY D() IN HOT. With one park concession We have hundreds of glowing letters from privilege men everywhere, who are operating our Little Round Ovens. Order to-day and make money quick.

The Best Gasoline Oven
And the man behind the oven wears that smile that won't come off. Are you getting your share of the coin that's floating around in the vicinity of the Sayso Ovens! Don't forget that agricultural fair near you, or that convention, picnic or other event where hundreds are waiting to hand the man that hands out the Saysos the coin vention, picnic or other event where hundreds are waiting to hand the man that hands out the Saysos the coin of the realm—a fair exchange boys—a fair exchange, and you are all to the good. "I like your ovens the best," "Send six more same as last." "I cleaned up a hundred plunks yesterday," and many other like expressions of exberance are flashed to me by telegraph, conveyed to me by 'phone and speeded to me by letter every day will be the game boys and take down your stack—it's yours without a struggle. My secret and improved formula my letter of advice telling how to serve 'em hot, how to keep 'em crisp for weeks, how to make up "Baby Saysos," how to meet and defeat competition, and a big lot of other information that is worth money to you; an ice cream the baby size for advertising purposes, and last but not least, A Bakke's Dozen of Brautiful Signs are one and all included with every order—no matter whether it is for a single cupola or the highest grade oven I make—all get the same liberal treatment and they all come back again and again. And they have succeeded splendidly, for there is much good fun, lots of pretty music, an abundance of clever comedy and pretty costumes galore. Billy S. Clifford is seen at his best under all circumstances, and seen at his best under all circumstances, and carries the show to a successful issue through his cleverness and amiable mannerisms. He sings as well as he ever did, dances with all the grace and dash which has given him place in a class by himself, and his clothes and personal appearance are all that his most exacting sonal appearance are all that his most exacting admirers could ask for. Fields and Wooley carry the brunt of the comedy work, and with the rest of Mr. Clifford's company fit admirably into the parts assigned to them. The Jolly Baron is a good show and ranks well with any in its particular class which the new season in its particular class which the new season has brought forward. Business at the Fourteenth Street last week was fine, and the week at the Metropolis gives promise of further deserved prosperity for this popular star.

Mr. company experience to reccommend them. Mr. Richman and Mr. Dickson seemed to be notice-Richman and Mr. Dickson seemed to be noticeably artistic in The Frisky Mrs. Johnson. Perhaps it is because she has played the part so often that Miss Bingham seemed to take less interest in her work than did her chief associates. Winifred Siegrist was charming as Mrs. Bowler, but Gertruce Coghlan seemed to have a poor comprehension of her opportunities and was evidently outclassed in the role of Mrs. Frank Morley. Dudley Hawley gave his usual finished performance and J. H. Gilmore was notably artistic and convincing in his interpretation of the role of Bertie, and Charles Alchman proved himself the star of the "allinterpretation of the role of Bertie, and Charles Aichman proved himself the star of the "allstar" cast. Daniel F. McCoy, well and favorably known as a manager and producer, has assumed the active management of the Howard Theatre. His attraction, Maloney's Wedding, now en tour, is playing to big business. Mr. McCoy will make his headquarters at the Howard, but will continue to direct his road shows in connection with his theatre duties. Ira Haynes is acting as manager of Maloney's Wedding and Sid. J. Deshane as business manager in the advance. Mr. McCoy is building a New England comedy drama, Si Holler, which under the active management of Gaylord Lawman, will play Stair & Haviln time. Negotiations are now under way with Sam. J. Burton, now playing with York State Folks, for the part of Si in the new production. Mande Sutton will be featured as Simplicity. Si Holler will be produced along the lines of the old Alvin Joslin show. The company will travel in its own car and will carry a band, but not of the "rube" variety. Mr. McCoy starts in on his duties at the Howard with the best wishes of a host of friends.

Another Witmark opera was given a successful initial production at Harrisburg. Pa., recently. The plece is called The Belle of The West, in which picturesque locality the scenes are laid. The Libretto is by Harry B. Smith and the music by Karl Hoschna. The book is extremely clever, and the melodies charming. Florence Bindley, for whom this operatic comedy was written, combines both of these desirable qualities, for the display of which she has ample opportunity in her new play. The success of The Belle of The West is assured, and judging by the numerous encores which are demanded for many of the songs, it would seem as if a goodly cluster of hits might be looked for, in the near future, from this production—that is, if signs count for anything.

and yet he found not that thing for which he hunted.

"Lose something, Leo?" queried Sam Meyers.

"Yes, ding it; I can't locate my hat," answered the man who has had photographed a check for $2,500, paid for a mere song.

"Why, you've got it on your head, Leo!" I exclaimed in some little surprise.

Leo grabbed at the lawn which will never again require the services of a mower to crop the grass thereof. "By gad!" cried he, there was a long pause, a painful and embarrassing pause, and Meyers snickered. "Sam is an uncle now and should have known better."

"By gad!" he repeated, vehemently. "I've got to get back to Gotham and see that kid soon, or I'll forget to eat regularly."

As we drew near a drug store he suggested a drink. This was rather a poor medium to offer a correspondent after such a display of loco, but then a man in Leo's frame of mind is to be forgiven such incautious proposals, in view of the fact he doesn't become a father every day—not in New York, anyway.

The critic's "guying" seems to be for the play and not for the players. He knows the ability of the actors in whose hands the principal roles were cast and he gives them full credit. We do not attempt to say whether the American's critic was "guying" through the fingers of a hand placed playfully over his face. We merely quote him for what he is worth; for these are the opinions of the Public Press, The Billibeard's own reviews appear in their own proper columns. Alan Dale says further:

Both looked a shade above 'allowances,' in fact, like a most respectable and lengthily married couple, whose days of cilling and booing had long gone by. "Miss Martinot, in a thin, pipey voice did the best she could for poor Mary. In justice to Miss Martinot, in a thin, pipey voice did the best she could for poor Mary. In justice to Miss Martinot one can scarcely bewail her performance. It was not ingenuous, or girlish, or subtle, or fascinating, but it was not vulgar. Why should it have been? you may ask. And I reply, I really don't know. Mr. Mason, as the boyish lusband, seemed to have attained his majority some time in the dim, forgotten past. relative to Japan. What can't say not already said by others more proficient to speak on the subject?

Japan has been thrown into the focus of the spot light of world's politics, by the almost superhuman achievement of her successful military exploit in the virtual subjugation of Russia's predominant Asiatic occupation. Japan has plucked the brand from the fire, which other nations hesitated to grasp. The Lilliputan has called the bluff of the Guiliver of European and Asiatic politics, and made exceedingly good.

Naturally a curious interest attaches to any thing Japanesque, in the mind of the westerner. We have much to learn from our little Asiatic brown man. Why should we dare to say that our civilization pro-dates his, as we are only too prone to say, when we bring to mind any comparative point of difference in what true civilization really is? He has his joys, his sorrows, his likes and dislikes in the same measure a we have ours. In many things he rises superior to us, and one in particular, worth mentioning, is his love for the beautifully artistic. Even the lowliest coolie, of the sampan, the hewer of wood, the drawer of water, has somewhere buried in his soul that keen appreciation of the artistic.

You sak what opportunity there is in Japan for the exploitation of a theatrical enterprise?

MINSTRELS

General Agent Fred M. Shortridge, of the Frank Mahara Minstrels, visited back with the show at Waterloo, Ia. Jack W. Stokes, formerly manager of the Tommy Donnelly Minstrels, is now trea-urer of the Wm. H. West Minstrels.

Owing to sickness and death, the Mahara Minstrels were short four members when they reached Iowa Falls, Ia., last week. New talent was immediately engaged.

New talent was immediately engaged.

A record-breaking run was recently made by the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels over the B. & O. from Louisville, Ky., to Columbus, Ohlo, the company leaving the Kentucky city at 12:05 a. m., Wednesday, and arriving in Columbus at 7:30 p. m. Seventy miles an hour was made between Louisville and Cincinnati behind a special engine. Another record-breaker was the attendance at the Great Southern Theatre, Columbus, where capacity business was the rule for the four days' engagement at the home of the Field Minstrels.

E. W. Dilger. known as the tramp contortionist, died in the hospital at St. Louis Sept. 5. while undergoing an operation, made necessary by injuries received while performing with the Lemon Brothers Show, Aug. 21., at Farmer City. Ill. Mr. Dilger was at first sent to his home in Louislana, Mo. He was thirty-three years of age, well known, and considered a competent performer. The remains were interred at Frankford Mo., under the auspices of the Eagles.

Jules Grau, the well-known theatrical manager and brother of Robert and Maurice Grau, died Sept. 11 at his home, 481 West 163th, street, New York City, after a protracted illness. Mr. Grau brought out in this country the success, The Mikado. He introduced, and for a time managed Raymond Hitchcock. A number of foreign singers came to this country under his management. Among all classes of the profession Mr. Grau was very popular. He is survived by a widow and three children. The funeral services were held Sept. 13, at the home of the deceased.

Mrs. Nellie Bruce Koplin, one of the Four Avenas, with the Floto Shows, died at Fargo, V. D., Sept. 9, of typhold fever after a sport illness. Miss Bruce, as she was professionally known, was taken ill during the engagement in Fargo, Aug. 22, and was left in the St. Johns Hospital. She was twenty-eight years of age and very popular. Her winning manners and very cheerful spirit won for her the respect and esteem of all with whom she came in contact. The funeral services were conducted under the auspices of the Eagles, and the remains were buried at Fargo.

Henry McCaffrey, an old music publisher of Baltimore, Md., died last week at his home, 1510 John street, of general debility. Mr. McCaffrey was 78 years of age. Many years ago his music store was the favorite resort of well-known actors and actresses. Theatre tickets were sold by him and he became very popular with the traveling profession. Joseph Jefferson, Jenny Lind, Adelina Patti always paid him a visit when in Baltimore and left signed photographs with him, many of which he retained as mementos until his death. Mr. McCaffrey was born in Chambersburg, Pa., and his parents moved to Baltimore when he was three years of age. He received a common school education, and began life as a clerk in a music store. At the age of nineteen he branched out in business for himself. His natural talent carried him forward on a wave of prosperity. He retired ten years ago. The deceased is survived by a widow and four children. Mrs. McCaffrey was Miss Margaret A. Garvey, and his children are Mrs. G. T. Rosensteel, Mrs. G. K. Hutchins and Misses Florence and Daisy McCaffrey. Rev. Carroll S. Rosensteel, a professor at the Niagara University, is a grandson.

CIRCUS AGENTS' FISHING

EXCURSION

Upon the pier was discovered a little inconspicuous sign reading as follows: "Boats to let and bait for sale." That settled it. All remaining doubts as to agents should not occasionally vacate their lofty positions and indulge in a few of the simple pleasures of ordinary people. Tis true, opportunities for recreation of any kind do not often offer, but when they do present themselves in a town where the high, mighty and exalted agent may "Sunday over," can there be any possible objection from any source to his taking a little harmless pleasure of a kind and

The accompanying photo eloquently tells the result better than words, and it may be stated that the photo does not lie (except, perhaps, representing Allien and Murray much more handled more than they are in store clothes), for, as anybody can see, it is taken by the side of the advertising car, in the open air and not in a photo gallery, where "property fish" are placed in position to be taken with would-ben fishermen. The picture was taken by Victor Cooke, who naturally could not be represented here.

To sum it up, the day was a most glorious one for sport and there can be no doubt but all the agents were much benefited by the fun and balmy sea. For the latter is not to be equaled any position to be equaled any sea. For the latter is not to be equaled any sea, the country of the coun

NOTES FROM BUFFALO BILL.

(Special to The Billboard.)

Our ten days' stay at Lyons was a big success. Since leaving Lyons we have had three weeks of one-night stands, with the exception of Orleans and Augers, where we remained two days each. Since last report we have been playing to capacity business. Sunday, Aug. 20, was a gala day at Vichy, at which place his royal highness, the Shah or Persia and suite, numbering about fifty persons, honored us with a visit. Press Agent Frank A. Small went two days in advance to arrange the royal box. There were fully 17,000 people present. Col. Cody rode down in front of the arena on his handsome black charger. Alighting, he advanced and shook hands with the Shah with all the monarchial dignity that he possesses. The Persian ruler expressed himelf as greatly pleased with the performance, and regretted that previous engagements kept him from witnessing the evening performance also. The Comptess de Paris also occupied a box.

We have had some terrific storms this season, but the worst struck us Aug. 25 at Oricans, between three and four o'clock p. m. The horse tents were demolished, the canopy over the five franc seats were broken to pieces. The side walls and side show were uninjured.

Mrs. Mason, one of our riders, was struck on the head by a pole during the storm at Orleans.

One of the most successful seasons in the history of the Lagoon, opposite Cincinnati, closed Sept. 19 with a big reception and ball given by one of the social clubs. The season virtually closed Sept. 17 with the closing of the theatre. Fair Japan and other attractions.

Spectacle was followed by an electric storm. Lightning struck one of the horse tents and killed four horses, among them being the two white Arabians used by Col. Cody in his private carriage. Several attaches of the stables auffered from the shock, but none were seriously injured.

The many friends of Ben Powell (Blondy) are glad to see him back in hapress again, much improved in health after several days' rest at yicky.

We close our season about the middle of November at Marseilles, France.

SAWING WOOD.

OTWITESTANDING the vigorous assaults made on Poster Advertising from time to time by the envious members of the public press, there is a steady growth in the number of advertisers who have recently taken up posters and made them a part of their general advertising plans. Time was when you could count on your fingers the different articles advertised on billboards. Now you will have trouble finding an article that some one has not advertised the poster way. Even the newspaper is unable to resist the opportunity to obtain the peculiar kind of publicity that the poster affords.

The secret of the popularity of Pos-OTWITESTANDING the vigstantial newspapers in America, has stantial newspapers in America, has placed a contract with the Gunning System for a series of large wall displays in Chicago and along all lines of railroads entering the city. There can be no mistaking the purpose of the Tribune in placing this contract—it wants publicity of the most popular and effective kind, and hits upon the outdoor method of obtaining that nub-mable to resist the opportunity to obain the peculiar kind of publicity that the poster affords.

The secret of the popularity of Posacre Advertising is its attractiveness.

FOREMAN BUERING RESIDENS

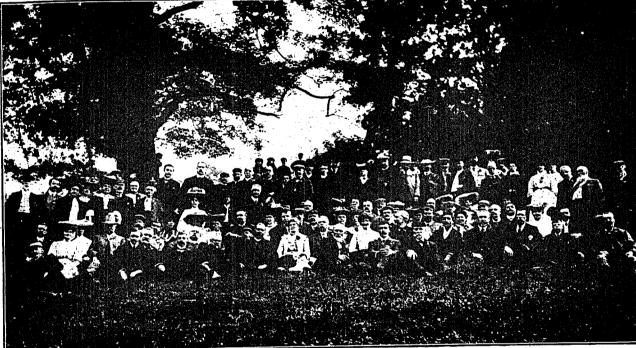

Mr. John D. Boering, for the past three years foreman of the biliposting plant of the A.
Van Beuren Company, New York, has resigned and is now open for engagement in a similar capacity. Mr. Boering held the jot down in New York longer than any of his predecessors, which is a sufficient recommendation as to his ability.

GROUP OF BRITISH BILLPOSTERS AND THEIR LADIES, TAKEN AT BERWYN

The same is true of any form of advertising that gains favor; but with Posters the possibility of making advertising attractive is greater. There is no limit to the brilliancy of color combinations attainable on a poster, and it is that brilliancy which attracts the thoughtful advertiser as well as the impressionable buyer. Hence, we see the old conservative advertisers dropping into line slowly, but none the less surely, as users of Poster Advertising. It is an evidence that they have found the medium convincing as to themselves and desire to profit by the effect it will have on others in their own behalf.

Association; indeed, the Association could run itself without a guiding hand, so perfectly adjusted and harmonious are its parts. Consequently he enjoys are its parts. The wild run itself without a guiding hand, so perfectly adjusted and harmonious are its parts. The middle parts are its p

Members Present.

The sixteenth annual convention of the United agent to rail against the Poster of conspire to discourage Poster Advertising. They do the medium no lasting harm, and do not advance their cause a single step. The business man who is sufficiently capable to succeed in business, these days is also keen enough to discourage about beautifying scenery by the removal of billiboard has its lat keen the motive of the solicitor who knocks a competing medium. All this talk on the part of newspapers and magazines about beautifying scenery by the removal of billiboard has its inspiration in a selfish desire to throttle competition and to drive a competitor out of business. No amount of protestations to the contrary will atter that fact, or make people believe otherwise.

It is significant to note here that the Chicago Tribune, one of the most sub-in a heap on the floor, mixed with other mysterious contrivances which have outworn their usefulness.

The cold and austere, manager takes a seat on a wobbling chair.

"Miss Vivien Vivand, serio," he says in the level tone of a criminal court judge, His face is a picture of gloom, and his brows are puckered into a frown that never leaves him while he is in the theatre.

Vivien Vivandi takes her stand a few feet in front of the judicial chair and bows prettilly. She is short, heavily built, and economically overdressed. A wearied planist strikes up an air.

"I'm a little singing bird," trills the serio.

"Bird" is a high note, and mademoiselle trills if for all she is worth. She holds her chin in the air in a captivating manner and throws a glance of agonized suspense at the face of the stage manager.

"Thank you, that will do."

The lady is aghast. "Won't you let me finish the song?" she pleads; "it's much better further on."

"That will do. I will let you know."

Zilda of the Age

Williams, Alf. H. Zilda of the Age williams, Alf. H. Alf. Zilda of the will and character is so high that they are not only an honor to womanlood and to the burnal nation. Alf. Alf. Japanese are the most invested to spectators of both sexes, with no thought that they are not only an honor to womanlood and to the house of spectators of nations. The house of spectators of nations. The house of sexual infany is unknown in Japan. Let us go a step farther. None of the so-called lower animals descend to the specially in the marriage and sexual relations, as does the human animal. The dogs, and monkeys in captivity, approach the nearest to man in this aspent. Not because I objected to the performance, for I had been with the performance, for I had been with the performance, for I had been with the performance had combattal the performance had comba menced.

But one afternoon, having finished my work earlier than usual, I went upstairs to watch the show for a short time. A new act was just coming on It was a riding act and occupied all three rings. The costume of the ladies consisted merely of tights, a sort of blouse waist and a little jockey cap. There was no skirt at all, even of the most abbreviated type. Wy first thought was that no Robinson girl ever looked like that. It was, I thought, the most immodest costume I had ever seen in a circus ring. My particular attention was directed toward the hearest ring, where two young men and a young woman were riding. My sensibilities were not soothed by the observation that the young men put their arms about the girl when all three were standing on the same running horse.

One evening after we had gone on the road, I was strolling through the connections from the menageric into the "big top," when a young kady came tripping toward me and said she had been wanting to see me. She wanted to know when we were going to have another gopel meeting. She was somewhat under the medium of the man as attribused in the connections from the menageric into the "big top," when a young kady came tripping toward me and said she had been wanting to see me. She wanted to know when we were going to have another gopel meeting. She was somewhat under the medium of the man as attribused to the service. They were anxious for another meeting. She was somewhat under the medium of the man as attribused to the service of the content of the man and the service of the man and the service of the servic

At first I could not think where I had seen her. I knew it was not in the gospel service that her face had become known to me, although according to her own statement she had been there. Gradually it began to dawn upon me that she was the young lady whose riding costume had been so at variance with my ideas of modesty. After that we saw each other every day. I was suffering from malaria at the time, and she hunted me up every

It is not on record that Adam and Eve were any purer, or any more modest, after they sewed fig leaves together for aprons, than they were before. Indeed, it was a sense of guilt and sin that first suggested to them the need of clothes. I can not say that it is always the evil-minded that are most frightened by a scentiness of covering of the hua sense of guilt and sin that first suggested to them the need of clothes. I can not say that it is always the evil-minded that are most frightened by a scantiness of covering of the human body, for some of the purest think they see sin in nudity; nor, on the other hand, can I say that it is always the immodest that are most prone to an exposure of the person, for it is eminently true that "to the pure all things are pure," and the man or woman with a strong mind and courageous soul, accustomed to think and feel properly, is the one most likely to view the whole subject in the truest light.

It is customary among the Japanese to bathe in public, and with the possible exception of the natives of the Hawaijan Islands, the Japanese are the most inveterate bathers. Men and women, perfectly nude, go into the baths together, in the presence of spectators of both sexes, with no thought that the act is immodest or sinful. And Gradually it began to dawn upon me that she was the young lady whose riding costume had been so at variance with my ideas of modesty. After that we saw each other every day. I was suffering from malaria at the time, and she hunted me up every day to inquire concerning my health. Our acquaintance and friendship grew apace, and the better I knew her the deeper became my respect for her. I learned there was not a coarse fiber in her nature. She was as modest and refined as any girl I ever knew. The young men with whom she rode were her brothers.

It is an old saying that clothes do not make the man. Neither do clothes, nor the lack of clothes, necessarily make or unmake a woman. The whole subject of dress is a mere matter of opinion and training. It is not on record that Adam and Eve were any purer, or any more modest, after they sewed fig leaves together for aprons, than they were before. Our ladies have been used at night to walk!
Sometimes, indeed, so various is our art,
An actor may improve and mend his part.
"Give me a horse!" bawls Richard, like a drone;
Wer't one of us he'd help himself to one.
Grant us your favors, put us to the test;
To gain your smiles we'll do our very best;
And, without dread of future turnkey lockits,
Thus, in an honest way, still pick your pockets.

The convict who played Filch recited the prologue and was probably its author.

Their standard of life and character is so high that they are not only an honor to their profession, but an honor to womanhood and to the human race. Their wardrobe is no more an evidence against them than is the plain plumage of the nightingale a proof that he can not sing as sweetly as the gaudy but croaking macaw.

ORIGIN OF A FAMOUS QUOTATION

George Middleton, the Chicago the atrical magnate now so prominently identified with the managerial field of vaudeville and drama, controlling, as he does, over a dozen American theatres, recently unearthed among his belongings, dust-covered and all but forgotten, a clipping from a now extinct journal which should be of interest to collectors of dramatic literature. It explains the origin of the expression: "He left his country for his country's right was a to practically be prohibitive. Some years ago when Mable Paige was making her reputation as the Little Lord Fauntleroy, she had considered the players at Roches-

It explains the origin of the expression:
"He left his country for his country's good."

It is from the prologue to the first theatrical representation ever given in Australia, at Sydney, in 1795.

The play was The Ranger, performed by a company of amateurs, all of whom were convicts. The manager was also a convict. An admission fee of one shilling was demanded, and the governor and his staff were graciously invited to free seats. Coin being scarce in the colony, a shilling's worth of flour or rum was accepted in lieu of money. One of the actors spoke the prologue, which ran as follows:

From distant lands, o'er widespread seas we come, But not with much celat, or beat of drum, True playing around the corridor of the hotel she drew the notice of the was to play a one-night stand.

While playing around the corridor of the hotel she was to play an engagement in that city on the follow-ing night. Mr. Jefferson, as we all know, was very fond of children, and started to talk to her, and in the course of conversation found out that the hotel she was also a professional. He of course of conversa

The Boarding School Girls

No. 6,162. CODE, VASILHAME. LENGTH, 965ft. A. $144,75

The opening scene shows a jolly party of young ladies descending the steps of a brown stone house, in a fashionable residential district of New York City, and entering a ligh seated touring automobile. The next scene shows the party arriving at Coney Island, N. Y. Froceeding to Dreamland and Steeplechase Park they seems that in everything in sight. Passing through "Creation" they capture the Miniature Railway and "shake" their governess, who can be constant them. "Shooting the Chutes," "Riding the Cameis," "The Dew Drop," "Steeplechase" and "Caurael" aliare visited. A parade on the beach in bathing costumes is followed by a visit to the "Flying Swings" and a dip in the surf. "The Trolley," "Razile Dazzle," "Moving Stairway," "The Trolley," and "Barrel of Love" are next visited in turn, until finally overtaken and captured by their governess they start for home. This is one of the most amusing pictures we have ever offered and gives an excellent idea of the attractions at Coney Island, the most popular of New York City's summer rerorts. Illustrated Circular No. 284 contains complete description. Mailed free upon application.

IMPORTED

AT GREATLY REDUCED PRICES

The imported confetti we offer is far superior to domestic goods; it is cleaner, brighter in colors, and "stacks" up more "bulky"; a 30 lb. bag is as big as a 50 lb. bag of American goods A 5 cent package can be made as big as a 10 cent package of the domestic article. It is nicer all around; better goods and more show for the money.

NEW BURWOOD OPENS

It might well be said that the New Burwood Theatre at Omaha, Neb., opened in a "blaze of glory," for thousands of electric lights were used to good advantage in illuminating this beautiful new theatre within and out of doors. A large and brilliant audience filled the house on the opening. 16. The entire seating capacity was taken and not even standing-room was available. Many were the exclamations of surprise at the beauty of the new theatre, and it promises to be a favorite place of amusement for the theatre-goers of Omaha. The play, The Girl I Left Behind Me, was well presented by the Woodward Stock Co., composed of competent players headed by Albert Morrison as leading man, and Miss Eva Land, leading lady. It is one of the best balanced stock companies seen in this city. Woodward & Burgess, the owners and managers, have received many congratulations for having provided this new playhouse for the entertainment of the many patrons, and success is assured from the very start.

It will be noticed that the name "Burwood" is made up by a combination of syllables from the names Bur(gess) and Wood(ward).

The conflict of the alliance and the syndicate booking agency, heretofore mainly confined to the accunisition of theatres and attractions, appears to have resolved itself into a fight for natronage. A report comes from Davenport, Ia., that Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger have reduced the price of their best seats at the Burtis to one dollar. On the other hand, it is reported that the "community of interests" will not charge over four bits for their best seats whether the attraction be a musical complety or a Manbatan star. Thus will the partons of the theatre in Davenport see this season for one dollars what they witnessed last season for $1.50.

This is pretty good evidence of the universality of the theatrical shakeup. The theatregoer is interested in knowing whether the reduction is going to be universal. If there is any special cause for the reduction at the Burtis, which does not hold good at the other houses, it is not made known. The report is easily to conjective and community.

live sheep—very charming and well-behaved sheep—were in the highest sense effective and picturesque. And the actors did their share equally well.

Thee best character is that of the eldest brother, Magnus Stephenson, played with great strength and vigor by Mr. Frank Cooper, who has rarely been seen to greater advantage. Mr. George Alexander has a much more ardous task. Only by winning youthfulness can he preserve our sympathles during the earlier scenes. But his great opportunity comes in the fourth act, which, indeed, is a fine piece of work on his part, admirably carried through with pathetic dignity and force.

Mr. Henry Neville is of considerable value in the character of the Governor General of Iceland; Stephen Magnusson, the father of the mequally matched sons; while Miss Mary Rorke, as Mary his wife, gives us a delightful study of maternal weakness and maternal affection. Mrs. John Wood, in the small part of Margaret Nelison, said her lines with incisiveness and effect. She represents the only humorous element in a play which is certainly a little deficient on the side of humor. Miss Lily Hall Caine, was better a Thora's daughter than she was as Thora herself, and Miss Nancy Price did what she could with the part of the temptress, Helga—a part which does not come out in the play as well as it does in the novel.

The production is in all a grandiose setting of a familiar story, the pathetic beauty of which lies in its simplicity.

It is evident that Mr. Hackett has been ver-fortunate in his selection of a joint vehicl-or himself and Miss Mannering. The Walls of fericlio, which has scored and continues suc-drawing success in London, is in four act-it has for its hero a man of the people, Joh Probleher, a gentleman of sterling qualities, while the property of the property of the people of the property of times. Which is the merits of every player were recognized and properly applauded. Both Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering are reported to have splendid roles. It is quite a different role from the dashing characters which Mr. Hackett has here-tofore been called upon to produce. Among the supporting company David Glassford, May Blayney and W. J. Ferguson scored individual hits. The production is well staged. This week The Walls of Jericho opens at the Savoy Theatre, New York City.

THE DRAGON FLY IN PHILADELPHIA

The Dragon Fly, a new drama by John Luther Long and Edward Childs Carpenter, was produced for the first time upon any stage Sept. 18, at the Garrick Theatre, Philadelphia, and served to introduce as co-stars the well-known players, Minnie Seligman and William Bramwell. The historic siege of the Alamo, which took place during the rebellion of Texas against Mexico in 1836, furnishes the incidents for the story. Miss Seligman appears as a Spanish woman, known as LaNadadora or The Dragon Fly. As Colonel Tregon, Mr. Bramwell appears as her lover. Tregon has charge of The Little Regiment of Texas, Nadadora believes him unfaithful to his country. His command is annihilated and she attempts to carry out his part in rendering sid to the besieged Alamo, in her accomplishments the auditor is carried in her accomplishments the auditor is carried through a number of stirring scenes. Tregon has escaped destruction, and he figures prominate to happy ending.

Critical comment is of the opinion that both Miss Seligman and Mr. Bramwell are cast in sultable roles, and that they take advantage of the opportunity. The supporting company does work which is also praiseworthy.

A young Northern solder is wounded in front of a Southern girl's house. This Southern girl—as so many of her Southern sisters do in historical novels and on the stage—of course, nurses him in her own home, with the usual results. He falls in love with her and they marry in the end. Incidentally, there is the negro slave, who provides the comety. and the slave overseer, who wears flaring black whishers, always sneers, and carries a whip. The simplicity, however, was refreshing, and there were several good players in the cast. Albert McGovern was teh hero; John L. Wooderson, and Margaret Evans are worthy of mention.

Week of Many Fairs

Several of the most important of England's fairs were held this week. The most popular, likely, is the historic Barnet Fair, which opened Tuesday and will continue until Monday next. Quite early in the afternoon an enormous crowd was assembled in the grounds, and the fact that many of the attractions were somewhat lacking in originality did not prevent them from doing a roaring business. "Have you ever noticed the peculiarity in play titles?" questioned Jess Dandy of The Prince of Pilsen Co., recently. "It would seem that playwrights had taken Shakespeare's advice seriously, and that there is considerable merit in 'apt alliteration's artful aid." Take the letter P, for instance, and see how many plays you can name that fenture, that letter. For the first, you have the perennially popular Prince of Pilsen. There's enough P's for you. It was lying over a chair by the window, and every garment, with the exception of his coat, was drenched by rain. Mr. Mayer is of ample girth; Mr. Lederer is thin. So is Mr. Lederer's only male servant. There were no neighbors of Mr. Mayer's size, and when the manager appeared at a late breakfast he wore a pair of pale blue pajamas and a winter overcost.

The local publishers and managers are almos

The local publishers and managers are almost a unite in declaring September a record-breaker in the annals of latter-day publishers, not alone from a sales standpoint, but professionally. The professional parlors of even the younger houses have received more than their full quota of performers, and to attempt to enumerate the different benefits the publishers derive from this happy medium would be an endless undertaking. Suffice to say, business is booming, and a general spirit of thankfulness and comradry prevails.

Production music predominates, and what few genuine hits there are seem to have found their way into musical comedy. Particularly can this be said of Sergeant Brue over at the Illinois. The score to this musical comedy was composed by Liza Lehman, and has received unstited praise. Her musical interpretation of the Rubylat, entitled In a Persian Garden, having been the conveyance upon which she rode into popularity. There are many excellent songs in Sergeant Brue, Old Man Shay, I Was Born On a Friday, A Sergeant of Police, Dearle, A Little Cup of Tea, My Irish Molly O, Saturday After Two, Thine Eyes Are Like Twin Stars and Put Me In My Little Cell being works of more than ordinary merit. Molly O and Dearle standing out most conspicuously as the hits of the group.

HREE Broadway Stars, Messrs. Joe Weber, Sam Bernard, and Gus Rogers, were seated at a table partaking of the sparkling beverage. They were deeply engrossed in the conversation, while the music was playing, when suddenly the voice of Mr. George Cohan was heard amidst the merry throng, shouting as follows: "Say Beys, Don't Forget to Let Me in on That."

The three Broadway Stars in question looked up at him, nodded their heads in smilling acquiescence, while the band played, And The World Goes On Just The Same.

Frank Moslan has introduced a new song in Humpty Dumpty for the ensuing season, entitled Welcome! The words and music are he work of Benjamin Hapgood Burt, whose indians. Along Broadway is the song hit of the Rollicking Girl. Mr. Burt publishes exclusively with Jos. W. Stern & Co.

The only song that Mr. George H. Primrose sings personally in his Mammoth Minstrels, is Liz, by Jean Lenox and Harry O. Sutton, authors of The World Goes On. It makes a distinct impression on all that go to see the big show. Two other song strikes in the same show are, Plain Little Soldier Man, a stirring march by Horwits and Bowers, and the ballad. The Evening Breeze is Signing Home Sweet Home. Franklyn Batte, one of the best singers in minstrelsy, renders both songs to perfection. They are published by the House of Hits, Jos. W. Stera & Co.

They are published by the House of Hits, Jos. W. Stera & Co.

You should have seen the excitement up at the Harlem Opera House, New York City, when that real blackface comedian, Arthur Deming sang Everybody Works But Father. Deming seemed to like it and so did the audience. Everybody was whistling before he had finished the second verse and even Jim Decker, the manager, managed to "pucker" a little.

There is quite a little story behind this song, and when it all comes out, there'll be some fun. It seems that Everybody Works But Father was adapted by C. W. McClintock of the Mittenthal forces over a year ago, from the English song. We All Go to Work But Father. The original music was written by Samuel Lehman, for years musical director at the Murray Hill Theatre, and now at the Hippodrome.

Mr. McClintock's version of the song with the original music was sung over a year ago before the M. M. P. U. (Musical Mutual Protective Union), the Ensemble Club, May Irwin Co., etc. It is now being introduced with great success by Primrose Minstrels as stated above, by Eddle Foy and many other artists.

The authorized edition is published by Jos. W. Stern & Co., with a complete statement of the facts on the title page. It was duly assigned to them by Mr. McClintock and Mr. Lehman in consideration of royalties, and they are saying along Broadway, "that you can't keep a good man like McClintock down, or his song either."

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe have just opened in Shakespearian repertoire. In consequence of the great success which has attended this artistic combination, Mr. Frohman will conduct the productions for the coming season on a larger and more extensive scale. The presentations this season will consist of The Taming of The Shrew with Mr. Sothern as Petruchio and Miss Marlowe as Katherine: Twelfth Kight, in which Miss Marlowe hill appear as Viola and Mr. Sothern as Malvollo. The third play will be The Merchant of Venice, with Sothern as Shylock and Miss Marlowe as Portia. There will be elaborate scenic accessories, not only effective as stage pictures but of interest to students and theatregoers at large.

Work on the new Jefferson Theatre, Goshen, Ind., is progressing rapidly, and it is very probable that the house will be completed Nov. 1.

THEATRICAL PHRASE ILLUSTRATED

At the Grand Alice and The Eight Princesses has proven a big hit, and there is reason why it should be with us for a goodly run when one has once heard the masterly score Victor Herhert has provided. Such songs as Popular Pauline: Me. Myself and I. The Only One. Jografree. Little Black Sheep and With Frame Two Forty-nine will demand big sales when Alice has had a little more extended run, and the Witmarks may well congratulate themselves upon controlling the works of Mr. Herbert's pen. Aside from the songs, there are at least two instrumental numbers which are excellent—the Dance of The Barbarians, and Dance of The Bayadere. Commenting on Mr. Herbert's music, James O'Ponnell Bennett says, in the Chicago Record-Herald:

"Such music! The audience was not good enough for it, heing of, the Sunday night persuasion, and liking, therefore, excitement and giltter and clowning better than those lovely airs. They are in Victor Herbert's fine manner; we can not say his beat manner, for we can not forget the score of Babes in Toyland. But this is all in Herbert's musicianly, uncheapened, flexible style, and all of it is wonderfully appropriate to the fantastical doings of an extravagana builded more or less—sometimes more and sometimes less—on the good, old-fashloned lines. It is now blithe and carefree, and then it is for the songs of patter and topic; now it is tempestuous and creepy, and then it signifies the wanderings and bewilderments of Alice in Wonderland; now it is as sumple and haunting and caressing as the airs to which they sing tired children to sleep in the nursery, and now it is martial and exultant. fairly lifting you in-your seat with its spiendid climaxes—its lavish color, its fire and its speed. Always it is music with a meaning, even when it is only the setting for a topical song that to any other accompaniment would be cheap clowning." it is only the setting for a topical song that to any other accompaniment would be cheap clowning.

The marriage ceremony was performed at the close of the evening performance, and the audience was invited to remain.

Burlesque houses have been occupying rather more of the attention of the Brooklyn public this season than heretofore, no doubt because of the rivalry between the enstern and western burlesque managers' organization. The effort has been made on all sides to "clean ap" the shows, and to attract women at the matinee performances, although no bar has ever been placed upon smoking. The Star and the Alcasar, the headpuarters of the rival eastern and western organizations, have both been doing a very good business, but the competition is of the keenest A report, which was promptly denied by Manager William T. Keogh, got into print early in the week, to the effect that the Alcasar would be turned into a combination house, with bookings from Stair & Havlin. Mr. Keogh was inclined to think that this rumor came from a business rival, in which he was probably mistaken for there have been all sorts of rumors during the week. The opinion of Justice Maddox in canceling the license to Mr. Watson, of the Cozy Corner. last spring, became a matter of record during the week, and this led one of the Manhattan papers to suppose that the Nassau, as the house has been renamed, would be closed. The presence of Mr. Watson at the bead of his own company at the theatre when this belated opinion was given out, lent color to the supposition, although it was found on investigation that the Willoughby Amusement Company. The old burlesque combination was known as "The Wheel." Now that there are two more wheels, buzzing in the same territory, it is quite natural that there should be an occasional collision. But with the increased tendency toward burlesque and vaudeville, there is plenty of room for all the houses devoted to these forms of entertainment. Brooklyn of to-day has fewer theatres in proportion to an exormous and growing population than any other community in the land, and, instead of worrying about competition, the ma NEW COPYRIGHTS

In their display ads, they are publishing an announcement which shows that they are recently incorporated with an all paid-in capitalization of $20,000, and that Jas. McDade is president; W. W. McDade vice president; and H. W. Sweely, manager of the Temple Theatre. Kane, Pa., is secretary and treasurer. These three men combined are worth about $200,000, and have implicit faith in the managerial ability of the members who bear the firm name. This year they are sending Roselle Knott, who was always a money-getter, out in a revival of When Knighthood Was in Flower, with a more elaborate cast and production that has been given her in the past, and she is already well shead of the expense mark. Another equally promising tour is the presentation of Aberta Gallatin in Cousin Kate.

Miss Gallatin has made an enviable reputation for herself in the south and west, and it is through this territory where she will present the delightful Hudson Theatre success. A new play is in course of preparation for Miss Gallatin for an Easter production.

This energetic firm of managers have other plans, not yet announced, one of which is a continuance of As You Like It—this Shakespearian comedy having cleared them over $12,000 the last season.

A Rocky Road to Dublin was written by Daniel L. Hart, author of The Parish Priest. The tale is told in three acts. It is the old story of love and sacrific., having for its here a goodly man who suffers for the guilt of an intended brother-in-law. The scenes are laid in Ireland, which at once suggests a foundation for the many comical incidents which manifest themselves in the piec. It is reported that the audience was a large one, and that Mr. Gilmore was accorded an enthusiastic reception.

ANNIE RUSSELL, IN WAJOR BARBARA

ANNIE RUSSELL, IN MAJOE RARBARA

The star role in Major Barbara, written by George Bernard Shaw for Eleanor Robson, will in all probability be played by Annie Russell, now in England. This change of stars appears to have been occasioned by a desire of the playwright to have Miss Robson give sit matinee performances beginning Nov. 23, promising her after Jan. 1 fourteen consecutive weeks, This would necessitate the cancellation of Miss Robson's American tour, and the disbandonment of her company, which Mr. Tyler considered a financial sacrifice. It was merely a matter of business, a strict eye to which the careful agent of Liebler & Co. ever has open. No ill feeling whatever exists between him and the playwright.

WORE TIGHTS, GOT DAMAGES

A case has just been reported from London in which a decision was rendered, giving a chorus girl $425 in damages against Robert Arthur, the the atrical manager.

Miss Smellie, who was too ill to appear, claimed one hundred pounds sterling damages for injury to her health caused by wearing tights, which were served out to her during the run of Forty Thieves, at Fulham at Christmas time.

The girl's depositions were read. She stated that when she b gan to dress for the performance on the night of Jan. 2 she noticed that the garments were damp. Other girls noticed the dampness at the same time, and they all complained to Mr. Young, the stage manager.

MEN OF CHICAGO THEATRICAL AFFAIRS

Welcomes Frank Daniels in The. RANK DANIELS is so well

田田田

RANK DANIELS is so well liked in Chicago that he never fails to do a big business here with any attraction in which he appears, but his present offering in the Illinois Theatre, Sergeant Brue, seems destined to break all local records for the comedian. There has not been an empty seat at any performance so far, and there is every indication that the same prosperity will continue through the remaining two weeks of the engagement. It is a matter of opinion whether some of the previous Daniels pieces haven't been better than Sergeant Brue, but there is no doubt about the attractiveness of his present play to a majority of the people. The farce is a sattre on London society and the London police force. As both these important factors are pretty much the same all over the world, the lines, though bearing on English manners directly, are not lost on American audiences. The sore is full of melody, and there are three or four good songs; especially Daniels' I Was Born On a Friday, Sailie Fisher's Dearle and Clara Belle Jerome's Molly O.

Dave Lewis offers $10,000 to the man er woman who will get him a musical com-edy to play in after he exhausts The Geezer

Sam. Morris believes he has a big winner in Fatty Felix, his new cartoon comedi-soon to go en tour. Mr. Morris is sparing neither pains nor expense to make this pro-duction worthy of patronage. Mr. Ed. Lamp-gon will act as business manager for Fatty Felix.

Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots at Powers'

In his review of Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots, now current at Powers', Barrett Eastman, in the Journal, says: The question is, Where does Gus Thomas buy his cheese? Certainly no ordinary cheese, not Herkimer county. Waukesha: Brie! Stilton, Gruyers, Camembert, or Gorgonzola, could have made a Welsh rabbit, capable, of producing such a nightmare as kins. Leffingsyell's Boots.

Mrs. Leffingsyell's Boots is called a comedy, and its Welsh Propented to a bewildered audience at Fowers', Theatre last night. But it is not a comedy; it one of those dreams of the Welsh Rabbit Fiend that have not reached the back page of The Journal. Mr. Leffingwell has the dream, after partaking of a cheese-poem in Browne's chop-house. He is a man with fiery whishers, closely resembling Chicago's favorite comedian, Col. Jim Ham Lewis, who, by the way, adorned and signalized the occasion with his presence in a box last night. It is impossible without the sid of the inimitable Silas to give an idea of all the accessor It is impossible without the aid of the immuse-ble Silas to give an idea of all the accesso-ries of this preposterous nightmare. But it should be remarked that Mr, Thomas has de-geloped the siphon of the warlety stage into an erratic fountain in the middle, of a dinner table. He has not introduced the signstick, but it is not missed among the kicks, buffets and revolvers of the action.

A disinterested friend herewith strongly advises Mr. Thomas to cut out the cheese. This is not to say that Mrs. Leffingwell's Roots is the cheese. Far from if. It is simply the hightmare that succeeds the cheese. Somebody says that Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots was a great ss in New York last year. At the Dewey

Some of them liked the play, others did not; and the harshest criticism was directed toward the incident wherein the parson is kissed by the women of his flock.

Rapid Transit to the Suburbs

There is one proposition that the theatre managers of every city should get together onstreet car service. In the average of every city should get together onstreet car service. In the average town the car service to the suburbs is a detriment to the business of the theatres. At that time of night (we are not considering matinee performances) theatregoers constitute about the only traffic. For their convenience express cars should be run direct from the theatre districts to the remotest residence suburbs that furnish (each its quota) the theatre-patronage.
The track should be cleared for these through cars. Locals could follow. An alternative that would be an equal improvement of the present prevailing custom, would be to have the special theatre cars (and an adequate number of them) stop at regular specified stations divided by sufficiently long intervals to insure rapid transit. The suburbs supply the preponderance of the theatre-patronage (at least for the better class) of every city Amusement, seekers do not like to spend as much time getting home (and the cars are usually very much crowded) as is generally found necessa in if managers will petition their local transit companies for first-class service. managers will petition their local transit companies for first-class service, they will find a compliance contributes a very desirable facility. It will help to sell their higher priced stats. Just experiment by chartering a few special cars on your own account (having advertised your enterprise sufficiently), and you will succeed in demonstrating the advantage of our proposition. Show your traction companies that it will add materially to their own profits, and you will get the service for your patrons they require.

in fact, than could be accommodated, and many of the debutantes of the season were unable to make a trip to the circus one of their season appearance. On four nights every seat in the house was taken, including all of the fifty-cent seats, and thousands were turned away from the doors, as standing room or seats on the track are not sold by Barnum & Balley. On Sept. 6 the Army and Navy Club attended the show in a body, and presented a very heautiful military array, as all of the officers of the ships lying in the harbor and the commanders of the different regiments stationed at the Presidio, were all attired in their regimentals. While it was not a very large gathering, the appearance that it presented was a most beautiful one. A new feature was introduced at San RINGLINGS IN BLOWDOWN

During the afternoon performance of the Bingling Brother's Show at Maryaville, Mongaing Brother's Show at Maryaville, Mongained by a dranching downpour of rain, leveled the big carvas which buried beneath its folds over live thousand spectators. One man was some sectionary and two fatally. None of the showness were injured.

The serum struck the total city about 3:20. The storm struck the fatally. None of the showness were injured.

The storm struck the total city about 3:20. The storm struck the total city about 3:20. The storm struck the storm of wind abook the tent from one end to the showness of the storm of wind abook the tent from one end to the creaked and poles swayed as it it usging for freedom. The performance stopped. Pleasure gave way to anciety and fear. Then came a storm of the storm of the ment as is possible after having seen the show, it is difficult to see how Barnum & Balley can be beat."

Ashton Stevens, of the Examiner, gives the following as his opinion: "Circus abounds with daring acts and is a marvel to see. * * Beat show of kind ever given in this city. * Barnum & Balley's is the best circus I have ever seen. You could write a novel describing it. * * It's a great circus anyway you look at it, and if you have forty eyes you couldn't see it all at one sitting."

The Chronicle said: "Great crowds see the circus. * * Barnum & Balley provide acts that chill blood. Great troupe of comical clowns. * * The man who said 'When you have seen one circus you have seen them all' owes an apology to the management of the Barnum & Balley Shows. * * The management of the show is to be congratulated for its method of caring for the comfort and protection of the people. It is possible to go to this circus without returning absolutely exhausted."

From the Call emanats these complimentary remarks: 'This circus is really Lue greatest on earth. There is everything in Barnum & Balley's Circus that was ever in a circus. and much that never was seen before in a circus."

This from the Post: "Circus keeps its promises. If you feel the need of a thrill pay a visit to ...e circus, and it really does make good the boast of the proprietors about being the biggest show on earth."

Praise for Equestrian Director

Mr. R. H. Dockrill is responsible for the precision w... which the acts are presented, and as an equestrian director, has no equal. Carl clair's internationally famous military band is said by all who have heard it to be the best circus band that has ever been in the west, it has also received many favorable mentions from the press during the whole trip. The show is now in the heart of what has been correctly termed "God's country," and the beautiful scenery, combined with the delightful climate, fine weather and social lababitants, serve to make the trip one that those who are with the show will long remember.

Several Acts Made Good Abundantly

A new act in the clowing line was introduced at San Francisco because of the fight which was at that time about to take place, which was at that time about to take place. This piece of comicality was a burlesque gist. This piece of comicality was a burlesque state that season with the Hagenberk Show, thus confirming all the stage we report that have come to us during the thousands.

At Watertown, Wis., Sept. 13, George Holland's folk came over fr Several Acts Made Good Abundantly

A new act in the clowning line was introduced at San Francisco because of the fight which was at that time about to take place. This plece of conicality was a burlesque fight between "Silvers" Oakley as Nelson, and Eddle Kennard as Jimmy Britt. Other clowns represented the other officials of the fight, such as Jeffries, Graney and others. This act created a great deal of amusement, and Jeffries, Britt and other, big men of the puglilistic world who witnessed the affair said it was the finest bit of burlesque nghting they had ever seen. Another act by which "Silvers" made a great deal of hearty laughter was his pantomime baseball game. He im. ates the players so well in this performance that one can not help but imagine he is attending a real lasseball game. And anyone who sits in the andience can easily see who are the baseball fans of the town.

The Hale, Wills and Hale troupe of musicals, who furnish an entertainment in the menagerie before the opening of the show, are constantly winning new laurels. Mr. Harvey Hale is one of the best banjo players in America, and a number of times on some of the long runs be has given excellent entertainments on his banjo, which were very much appreciated by the boys who are lucky enough to bunk in the same car that he does. Mr. Harry Wills, of this same troupe, is the callione players, and the certainly has them all beaten when it comes to tooting the steam piano.

Other clowns who have helped to drive away some of the sorrows of the people through whose territory Barnum & Balley has traveled are Hughle Zorella. Lon Moore, Sam Watson, "Pad" Ryan and the Kennard Brothers. Eddle and "Kid." These boys have made a name for themselves, and if the show ever goes west again these fellows will be eagerly sought for by the big folks as well as the little ones.

Fraise for Equestrian Director

The Norris & Rowe Show received an ovation at Relvidere. Ill., last week in the way of attendance. During the afternoon performance a rider fell under a horse, but escaped uninjured. Shortly afterward a driver of five ponies was knocked from his mount. He likewise escaped injury.

Law Department

EDITED BY MAURICE H. BOSENZWEIG.

The landlord can treat this holdover as a renewal for another year. Sickness is no excuse, unless the board of health forbids the removal.

The New York Herald's exclusive rumor, given out last Friday, that Weber and Fields were soon to reunite was most strenuously denied by both parties to the Herald's publicity just as soon as they could get into print. The Herald's amalgamated Theatrical-society department never wants for a sensational "leader." New York Herald's exclusive

CARNIVALS

FROM LIEBFRIED & LAVELLE'S INDE-

Kentucky's third state fair opened Sept. 18 at the grounds of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association with large attendance and every promise of financial success. The example of financial success of the races of success. The example of financial success. The example of financial success of the races of success. The fair has been an enormous success. Les-He's Wild Animal Show and the petrified woman did immense business. Mr. Manning, of the Armstrong Booking Agency of New York, booked some attractions that pleased, especially Mullen and Correll; Hardy, the high wire ar-tist; Rice and Elmer, The Bellatzer Sisters, The Valdares, Mons. Breton, and Wolf and Wilton.

FAIR NOTES Lewis and Clark Exposition

The Lewis and Clark Exposition Goes Oct. 14.

The Livingston County (Mo.) Fair, set at Chillicothe for Sept. 12-15, was declared off on account of rain.

The attendance at the Lewis and Clark Exposition to date exceeds 1,800,000, an average of 17,200 a day.

The Marvelous Baums are playing California fairs. They were featured at the State fair held at Sacramento.

The Jefferson County (Ia.) Fair, held at Fairfield last week, was not a losing venture although it rained all week.

Minnie Nelson, wife of Prof. Ned Melson, injured recently at Timonium, Md., writes that her husband will not be able to resume work for some time.

The report of the directors of the Fulton County (N. Y.) Fair shows a marked increase in the number of entries, live stock exhibits and daily receipts over former years.

The Madison Monarch Picture Show played the fair at Wheeling, W. Ya., week of Sept. 10 to capacity business. This show goes west to San Francisco and then plays the southern cities.

midway attractions now with their carnival company will be housed in this building and will be open all winter. The merry-go-round will also be installed. It will be a regular indoor carnival. New features will be added from time to time.

TANTLINGER'S WILD WEST

One of the feature comedy acus in annilinger's Wild West is Rube Newton, originator of The Damm Family as well as the phrase, Shame On You. The Damm Family consists of Rube Newton as Farmer Damm, Bobbie Bunker as Mrs. U. B. Damm. The Proctor Twins as Billy B. and H. B. Damm, Mike Rockwell as Elmer Damm, H. Jenkins as I. B. Damm and Mrs. Lizzle Thomas as She B. Damm. The Damm dog makes up the family. Chas. Strahl, king of the high divers, continues to draw big crowds to this attraction. Messrs. Anderson and Tantlinger are living fine on prairie chickens and ducks.

We put on the first carnival ever held at Coushohocken, Pa., week of Sept. 16 under the auspices of the Sons of Veterans. Capacity business was the rule for all the attractions. This is our last stand for the season as Messrs. Graybill and Rushmer open an amusement palace at Norristown Oct. 1. We have a number of maiden towns booked for next spring. We will carry our own electric light plant and have some fine paper for next season.

DREAMLAND AMUSEMENT CO.

We have been out three weeks and have met with success playing fairs. We carry ten people, featuring LaBelle Cleo, Leona, and Adelaide and Flossie LaMaresi. Harry Foster lectures on the outside on the stage. Frank Whitley is our blackface comedian. Chas. Canover is boss canvasman and Mr. Harris is leader.

The Ft. Scott (Kan.) Fall Festival, to be held Oct. 16-21, promises success in its every feature. Messrs. Hafer and Love are very feature. Messrs. Hafer an Finley D. McGregor, pictured above, is secretary of the Huron County, Michigan, Fair-Association, which held its annual event Sept. 10-22. Last season the fair was a big financial success, but this year's receipts were greater than ever before.

The county fair held at Watseka.

III., week of Sept. 11. was a winner, wittes and correspondent. Dare Devil Davis, in a loop the gap on a blcycle: Prof. Davenport, or the high wire, and Ricardo, in a trapeze and laider act, drew and pleased immensely as free attractions.

Gentlement Mr. J. Horace McFarland, who is also styled President of The American Civic Association has for some time past been a contributor to the Ladies' Home Journal of a s ries of articles advancing the removal of all kluds of out-door advertising fences and signs in order to "beautify America." His chief lidea seems to be that to get these away and plant vines in their place, thus making a lovely arbor spot, and destroying tin cans, which he informs a term of the places.

McFarland was not to be beaten. He published a picture of Corbett's board, reproduced here, to show the front view, and then got one from Seattle showing a rear view with the piles of rubbish that gravitate to vacant lots. Then he insinuated that Corbett's beautiful front view might concell a similar aspect.

In a letter to The Billboard Mr. Corbett calls attention to the defects in Mr. McFarland's suggestions. He says:

A Tip to Theatrical and Show Managers A lip to Incatrical and Snow Managers.
An aeria: "ad" will help you to make a good wind-up and home play. There is no time to lose. The season is flying by and you should go the limit, to get your share and some of the other fellow's too. DON'T Stand Pat. The season is not over until the last Pumpkin Vine is dead. So line up and join the "Show Me Tribe." Put your money on the winner. You know that a Big Banner, 9x18 ft, with your "ad" on, floating 500 ft. in the air, over your attraction, would be a puller. A Business Puller. The only way they can avoid seeing it is to shut their e.jes, Send for photo and information.

MAGICIANS, NOTICE!

Great Telephone Trick We have it. All the rage in Europe. Just introduced this week in New York. Any card held to the receiver of a telephone, by ANY PERSON (you don't go near 'phone), is instantly named by your assistant at the other end of the wire. Grand effect to work from stage to gallery with a small 'phone, or on any city 'phone, local ro long distance. Exhibit this at your hotel, and request some guest to call up your assistant, who is across the city. It will give the guests something to talk about for months. Good ad for you. The most prominent in the profession have called in our office to witness this trick and were absolutely "knocked out." All bought one. Price of complete arrangement and secret, only $1. We will raise the price to $2.50 after Oct. 15. Money back if notes represented.

COMBINATION PROJECTING MACHINE

(Model De Luxe)

Patented April 30, 1901; Nov. 17, 1903; Sept. 27, 1904; Oct. 4, 1904; March 21, 1905, THE VITAGRAPH IS THE MOST EFFICIENT TYPE OF ANIMATED PICTURE MACHINE ON THE MARKET.

Its advantages over all other picture machines will at once be apparent to every exhibitor. While not the cheapest in the beginning, it is the the most economical in the end. Films will last ten times longer on the VIZAGRAPH than on any other picture machine.

ITS ESSENTIAL POINTS ARE: Freedom from Filekering. Absolute Steadiness. Safety against Firing Films. Simple Operation. Perfect Workmanship. Provention against or tohed Films. Enclosed intermittent. Movement. Thoroughly Up-to-Date. The Oely Perfect Machine.

Do not waste time, money and energy looking for a better outfit than the VITAGRAPH. IT DOES NOT EXIST.

We are Quoting this Price on A DELAYED SHIPMENT OF 50,000 LBS. Which was scheduled to arrive some six weeks ago, but was delayed in transit. The French exporters realizing the lateness of the season cable-gramed us to sell the confetti for their account at - 5 Cents the Pound

The Largest and Most Reliable Wholesale Streetmen's Supply House in the Country

5c. PER POUND IMPORTED FRENCH CONFETTI

This is a very Unusual Snap for Streetmen. For this confetti is worth fully 50 per cent. more than the domestic goods. It is brighter in colors, cleaner and stack up very bulky; a 5 cent package by weight, in appearence, looks as big as a 10 cent one of the domestic stuff. Send your order early, for this lot won't last long.

A SPECIAL VALUE IN CONFETTI DUSTERS The Confetti Duster we offer has no superior nor equal in the market, when its make up, quality and size is considered. It is 16 inches long.

Per 1,000, $10.00 ROTICE We have again caught up with the rush of business, which was very unusual the last four or five weeks, and from now on will again give the prompt shipments as is our wont - so don't hold back your orders, we will take very good care of them, we made special arrangements

Every enterprising manager knows that there is as much advantage in having the FIRST use of a feature production as in having the BEST.

Our Inspection Department is ALIVE. In addition to our own manufactures we see all the new subjects FIRST -most of them in process of manufacture and production, and we are the only rental concern furnishing the CREAM OF THE WORLD'S OUTPUT as fact as produced
